"The Nearer the Bone, the Sweeter the Meat."

It's an old and homely adage and finds an application here.

The maker of merchandise has reached the end of his Summer "tether."

His season is about over; yours has just begun.

He's anxious to sell what is left of his made up product at almost any reasonable sacrifice.

We're watching your interests in this matter, and as a result have made purchases that will surprise you by their price cheapness.

Makers of Shirt Waists

Are straining every nerve to get rid of the balance of their season's product. It's a big chance for the consumer to buy these dainty Summer garments at a big drop from early season's prices. At least we thought so when we cornered these lots. It's a case of quick sale, and first come, first served.

CAN THE BLIND SEE?

Can the eyesight be preserved? Can imperfect vision be restored? Can the aged enjoy reading as the young? Can Science assist you? These are important questions. Remember that eyesight is priceless and that sight once lost can never be regained. Persons will buy a pair of cheap, imperfect spectacles, thinking it economy, not knowing that they are doing themselves irreparable injury until it is too late. The popular opinion that the use of glasses should be postponed as long as possible is erroneous.

As soon as you find your sight failing, go at once to an eye specialist and have your eyes tested and glasses properly fitted.

THE POPULISTS

Are Gathering at St. Louis.

All the Leading Men Now Present

And Busy Hobnobbing in the Interest of Party.

A Heavy Downpour of Rain Damages Bunting and Dampens Enthusiasm.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—The rain poured down in steady sheets today and served to dampen the ardor of the arriving populists and silverites. The gay bunting which decorated the entrance to the Lindell, the populist headquarters, sagged and flagged and the leaders kept closely huddled within the walls. Those who were quartered at other hotels were slow in venturing forth to the respective meeting places. Only the sergeant at arms and the secretaries were active early, arranging the final details as to decorations and seats.

The populists are making extensive preparations for the populist press, which they expect here in force. They claim over 2,000 reform papers in various parts of the country and most of these papers, they believe, will be represented.

Some of its representatives held an informal conference late last night. A strong sentiment against an equivocal endorsement of the Chicago ticket, which might result in the complete annihilation of the populistic organization, prevailed. The general feeling was that the silver forces should be united but only in a way that would preserve their organization.

While most of them seemed disposed to unite through some plan on Bryan, they were bitterly opposed to Sewall and some were strongly of the opinion that a separate platform should be adopted which will include demands for many additional reforms.

A Bolt Probable.

The belief continues to be generally prevalent that a bolt is among the strong probabilities of the populist convention, whatever the course decided upon by the majority.

The delegates are constantly arriving now, and the larger the crowd becomes, the more evident is the intensity of feeling over the one question at issue. This question is whether to endorse Bryan and Sewall or to nominate an independent ticket.

In a general way the contest is between the north and the south. The western and northern delegate calls himself a populist and the southern delegate also refers to himself as a populist. Many of the delegates express the opinion that they may at no distant day be separate parties.

The northern men, as a class, contend that in the endorsement of Bryan lies the only hope of making the influence of the party felt or of achieving practical results, while the southern men, remembering their many contests with the democrats of their section, maintain that such a course is utterly suicidal. The feeling is the same whether among leaders, or the rank and file, the only difference being that the former discuss the issue in committee rooms and the latter in the hotel corridors. Both classes are equally earnest and both declare that there is but one course open.

The crowds are not large, but the men are all very evidently greatly in earnest, and any two of opposing views, who engage in a controversy, have no difficulty in attracting a crowd, any number of which is only too glad to take up the thread of the discourse of his champion. They are all debators, and all well informed in the issues at stake.

The Bryan followers talk split more openly than their opponents. They are perfecting a thorough organization and mean to make a strenuous effort to secure the endorsement of the democratic nominee. They do not publicly admit that there is any possibility that they will not be able to control the convention, but privately many of them say that if they are not in the majority, and if a separate ticket is nominated they will walk out of the convention and appeal to the people to the support of Bryan and Sewall. The other crowd are more reticient, but the feeling is none the less intense.

Distinguished Arrivals.

The Nebraska delegation, with United Statet Senator Allen at its head, arrived today, making a visible augmentation of the Bryan forces. The members of the delegation say that the populist party of the state is solid for Bryan, and express confidence in his endorsement.

"Why should not we endorse Bryan?" said Senator Allen, asking a question in reply to one. "It is good policy—the wise and proper thing to do. Mr. Bryan represents three, if not more of the important populist doctrines: The free and unlimited coinage of silver, the income tax and a revenue tariff. Our endorsement of Bryan gives reasonable hope of success at the polls. With our endorsement he will win. If we fail to endorse him the logical effect will be the same as if we had endorsed McKinley. Hence the choice is between McKinley and gold and an abnormally high tariff, and Bryan with free silver, a tariff for revenue, the income tax and other reforms."

"What is the prospect of his endorsement?" was asked. "I think it good," was the reply. "There is a good deal of noisy demonstration in the hotel corridors in opposition, but it amounts to nothing.

The senator expressed the opinion that whether Bryan was endorsed or not, the populist convention would promulgate a platform of its own.

Lawrence J. McPharlin, of New York, one of the general secretaries of the national populist committee, arrived today. He expressed the opinion that Bryan would be nominated, though not endorsed, and that an arrangement would be reached for an equitable division of electors. He thinks the Omaha platform will be reaffirmed with the addition of a plank endorsing the initiative and referendum system.

J. E. Anderson and Dr. Evans, two delegates from Iowa, also came in. They are for Bryan under certain conditions, but are not yet prepared to wholly commit themselves.

Senator Jones for Bryan.

Senator Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the democratic national committee, ate early breakfast at the Planters, this morning, with Governor Stone and at 9 o'clock repaired to his parlor to receive callers. Scores of cards were in his room when he got back to it, and he began immediately to have his visitors ushered in. Senator Stewart, of Nevada, was one of the first admitted and close on the heels of the Nevadan followed Col. Thomas Patterson, the populist leader of Colorado. At 10 o'clock the prospects were that Senator Jones would be engaged all day in private conference with populistic leaders. He said:

"I hope the populist convention will endorse Bryan and Sewall and since I arrived here, I have received a good deal of encouragement of that hope. It occurs to me that everybody who believes in the free coinage of silver can with perfect good grace and confidence vote for our nominees and thus assure the restoration of bimetallism at the earliest possible date."

Nebraska's Statement.

Some of the members of the Nebraska delegation, among them Senator Allen, today prepared the following statement: "The Nebraska delegation is a unit for Bryan. They know him well. His life has been a fulfillment rather than a mere promise. We know his high character and eminent fitness for the office of president. He is our neighbor and we are not deceived in him. If elected he will be the greatest man that has occupied the white house since the days of Lincoln, and in his broad and genuine sympathy for the masses he more nearly resembles Mr. Lincoln than any public man we can recall. The nomination of a third ticket would be the exact equivalent of a genuine endorsement of McKinley, the single gold standard, an abominable high tariff tax, continued gold bond issues, a perpetual public debt, cruel and heartless corporation for the next four years and possibly for all time. If elected president Mr. Bryan will know no democrat, no populist, no republican. There will be no stepchildren in his political family. All who have been with the united reform forces in the fight will be on an equal footing. He will be the people's candidate. Nebraska is for Bryan."

This enthusiastic statement coming from the populists of Bryan's own state attracted the most attention. The Nebraska delegation is thoroughly organized and is doing missionary work among the "middle of the road" populists. "We want to show them," said Senator Allen, "where the middle of the road is."

Jerry Simpson's Views.

Ex-Congressman Jerry Simpson, who is a very shrewd observer, is strongly of the opinion that Bryan and Sewall will be endorsed. "The issue is paramount," said he, "and men dare not play politics at such a time as this. If this convention should refuse to endorse Bryan, the populist party would not contain a corporals guard in November. Honest endorsement is the only salvation of the party. So far as Kansas is concerned, it matters not what this convention does, we will endorse Bryan and vote for silver."

George W. Brewster, of Falls City, Neb., who is the populist candidate for congress, is here urgently advocating Bryan's nomination, not endorsement. "Endorsement," said he, "implies acceptance of the democratic platform. We should adopt our own platform and nominate Bryan. That would unite the democrats and populists on the silver issue, but still maintain our organization as a seperate entirety. Our platform, I think, will practically be a reiteration of the Omaha platform with a few changes and an additional plank or two, the most important of which is the initiative and referendum declaration."

Mr. Brewster says that the demand for fusion or a separate ticket and platform comes from the south, where the populists have been persecuted, but he believes as the western delegates arrive and bring their influence to bear, the south will "listen to reason."

Ladies in the Convention.

There will be three, if not more, lady delegates in the populists' convention. Two of these three will be from New York and one from Pennsylvania. The committee of ladies which is giving its attention to securing the adoption of a female suffrage plank in the platform are counting upon the zealous assistance of these lady delegates. Some of the members of this committee, headed by Mrs. Victoria Conkling Whitney and Miss Ella E. Buie, were at the Lindell early today to make arrangements for a hearing before the commit. tee on resolutions. They were early assured of the hearty co-operation of Senator Peffer and Hon. J. B. Weaver and are very hopeful of receiving an unequivocal endorsement of equal suffrage. They will ask to have a plank inserted providing "that congress shall submit to the legislatures of the several states a proposition to so amend the federal constitution as to provide that the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

Delegate Wardell, of California, and his wife, are actively co operating in this work. They bring a message from Miss Susan B. Anthony, expressing her hope that the populists will take a positive stand on the question.

THE COURTS.

Two Young Fishermen Accused of Larceny.

The Geary Case on Trial—County Commissioners Considering Liquor Licenses.

Gaylord Watson and Gill McNabb, two young men of Cedarville, had a hearing before Justice Huser this morning and were bound over to court in the sum of $500 each to answer to the charge of larceny preferred against them. The defendants were arrested by Officers Maurice and George Harrod.

The young fellows, it seems, were out on a fishing expedition, but in order to provide an outfit for their camping had gone to the house of Liddy Graff and others and stolen a regular batch of articles; table cloths, bed clothes, kettles, cooking utensils, hams, etc. The act took place on the 12th of July.

The first batch of cases against Geary, the saloonkeeper, for conducting a saloon near Robison park, is on trial this afternoon before Justice Bullerman. The affidavits are for Sunday violations, selling at unlawful hours and in an unlawfully manner. They are prosecuted by the managers of the street car company. The defendants' attorneys are Judge W. G. Colerick and Will Colerick.

The county commissioners are engaged in considering applications for liquor licenses. There are no particular contests, but there are some questions concerning other business or amusements which the applicants want to conduct in connection with liquor selling. Mr. S. L. Morris is the board's legal adviser, and they are not likely to make any mistakes in their conclusions.

PLATT J. WISE.

The Efficient Chief Deputy of the Sheriff Eighty-One Years Old.

Mr. Platt J. Wise, the chief deputy of Sheriff Clausmeier, is eighty-one years old today and is being congratulated by those of his friends who are aware of the fact that this is the anniversary of his birth.

Mr. Wise grows old gracefully and still retains much of the vigor of his former days. His mind is wonderfully clear and he is correct in all his business methods. He is rich in reminiscences of the past and it is always a pleasure to talk to him. Mr. Wise has been in the sheriff's office for years and is a favorite with everybody.

USED AN AX.

Murderous Deed of Etta Robins at Huntington.

A. J. Call and Daughter Killed and Other Children Horribly Slashed by the Demon.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 20.—A. J. Call and Nettie Call, his daughter, were killed in a shanty boat, six miles east of here this morning. Lollie Call will also die and several small children are at the point of death.

Etta Robins is in jail accused of the murder of all of them, using as a weapon a double-bit ax.

Call and daughter, who are dead, have their heads severed and all the children are slashed in a horrible manner.

One woman leaped into the river and saved her life.

The greatest of excitement prevails No cause is assigned for the deed.

POOL ROOMS WILL REOPEN.

Missouri Law, Under Which They Closed, Declared Unconstitutional.

KANSAS CITY, July 20.—Under a decision made by Judge Wofford, of the criminal court, gambling on horse races outside of the state may be resumed in Kansas City. By virtue of this decision pool rooms which were closed in 1891, when the Stone anti-pool room law went into effect, will speedily reopen.

Judge Wofford held that the law which made it a felony to bet or accept bets on a race, except on a course where the race is run, is unconstitutional because it was special legislation which did not bear equally on all citizens. Such special legislation is prohibited by the state constitution. The decision was made in the cases of L. M. Bliter, Sam Lewis and Charles Oldham, who was arrested for keeping a pool room.

Lawyers say it is the first time the constitutionality of the law has been passed on in this state and that the effect of Judge Wofford's decision is to throw down the bars to all people who wish to sell pools on horse races, and that many pool rooms will be opened as a result of it.

CLEVELAND'S CLEMENCY

Given to Three Men Who Had Been Sentenced to Death.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The president has commuted to imprisonment for life the death sentences imposed upon three Texans, John C. Ball, Tom Davis and Taylor Hickman. They were to be hanged September 8th next. In the case of Ball, the president says that while he has been twice convicted of murder, the judge and district attorney both urge the commutation on account of the youthful convict, and for other cogent reasons. Davis and Hickman are full blooded Indian boys, of thirteen and fourteen years respectively, without any appreciation of the enormity of the brutal and cold blooded homicide committed by them, and in their cases also the judge and district attorney strongly urged the commutation.

BOON TO WEARY BOARDERS.

Ohio Man Has an Invention for Correcting False Notes of a Piano.

CINCINNATI, O., July 19—Dr. S. A. Hageman of this city has applied for a patent on an invention which promises to create a sensation among musicians. It is a mechanism to be applied to the piano for the purpose of correcting the false tones of that instrument, which have hitherto been regarded as a necessary evil. The invention makes the piano as true as the violin and it accomplishes the result by a sort of mechanical fingering similar to the human fingering on the violin. Competent musicians say the problem has been successfully solved. The inventor is a half brother of the late Professor Swing, of Chicago.

DEAD IN THE RUINS.

Three Bodies are Found in the Car Barn Fire.

CHICAGO, July 20—Three men were killed and it is feared that two more perished in the fire Saturday evening which destroyed the Cottage Grove avenue barn of the Chicago City Railway company. The dead are: Frank Crosby, towboy, 104 Thirty-ninth street; William L. Elwell, gripman, 4018 Cottage Grove avenue; Patrick Martin, conductor, 5458 Ingleside avenue. The missing are: Bertram Fulford, 99 Thirty-ninth street, blacksmith; last seen attempting to rescue frightened horses from the car stables; unidentified man, seen to fall through the roof of the hay barn.

Cornelius Vanderbilt.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, according to his physicians, passed a comfortable night. Dr. McLean left the residence at 6:45 o'clock this morning. He said that while he had been in the house all night, he had not found it necessary to remain all the time at the bedside of the patient. Mr. Vanderbilt, he said, had slept soundly from 11 o'clock last night until 6 o'clock this morning.

Against Free Coinage.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 20—The California socialist labor convention has adopted a platform protesting against the free coinage of silver on the ground that such action would be class legislation, inasmuch as, it alleges, it would benefit the debtor class at the expense of capitalists. The platform declares that free silver would not benefit laboring men as wage earners and are not, as a rule, debtors.

The republican headquarters have been established over the Gazette office, and E. L. Craw, the secretary, is moving his office effects there today.

THEY WANT BRYAN.

The Populists Desire Him as Their Candidate.

Telegram Sent to the Democratic Nominee by the California Delegation En Route to St. Louis.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 20.—While en route to the national populist convention the California delegation, thirty-nine strong, last night issued an open letter to the democratic presidential nominee, William J. Bryan, urging him to go before the country as the nominee of the populist party. The letter was composed and dispatched while the delegation was waiting for its train to St. Louis, Dr. G. W. Daywalt, of San Francisco, being chosen secretary and instructed to write it. The letter says in part:

"If you will accept the nomination of the people's party, declaring yourself a populist, you will become a leader to whom will rush every reformer—be he silverite, democrat or republican—and not only be elected yourself, but also elect the congress, the law making power. This is the opportunity of your life, if taken advantage of, and will like Lincoln with the republicans, send your name down to history as a savior of your country by means of populism. If you do not do it, we must, in defense of our principles, put another nominee in the field. Can you thus be elected?"

DR. JAMESON.

Hearing of His Case in the London Courts.

LONDON, July 20.—The first trial at bar since the famous Tichborne claimant case was begun today when Dr. Jameson, Major Sir John Willoughby, Col. R. Gray, Col. H. F. White, Major R. White and Henry F. Coventry were arraigned before Lord Chief Justice Russell, Baron Pollock and Mr. Justice Hawkins. The charge against the defendants is violation of the neutrality laws by invading the territory of the South African republic. Most of the leading members of the bar of Great Britain have been engaged either for the prosecution or for the defense.

Long before the hour had arrived for the beginning of the trial every nook and corner in the court room allotted to spectators was thronged. There were many ladies among those present

Sir Edward Clarke, for the defendants, made a motion to quash the indictment on the ground that it was indifinite in its allegations and that it had not been proven that the foreign enlistment act had been proclaimed when the offense alleged had taken place. Sir Richard Webster, Q. C., the attorney general, replied on behalf of the government. When the attorney general had closed his argument the court adjourned until tomorrow.

REVELS IN CONVENTIONS.

Five of Them Will Give Performances This Week.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 20.—Five conventions will be held in St. Louis this week, namely: Populists, silver, direct legislation, co-operative and reform press association. E. V. Debs will address the direct legislation convention. Among those who will read papers at the co-operative convention will be Editor A. S. Edwards, of the Nation; Editor B. O. Flower, of the Arena, and Edward Bellamy, author of "Looking Backward."

DROWNED IN NAGOWICA LAKE.

Walter Nunnemacher Meets Death While Fishing.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 19.—Walter Nunnemacher, son of the late Rudolph Nunnemacher, was drowned while fishing in Nagowica lake. The body was recovered and brought to this city last night.

Cleveland's Centennial.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 20.—Notwithstanding the threatening weather and occasional showers, many thousands of persons gathered early today around the great arch, upon which the finishing touches are now being placed, in the center of Monumental square, in commemoration of the one hundreth anniversary of the founding of the city of Cleveland. The centennial celebration proper began today, and every incoming train brought big crowds of visitors to witness the festivities which will be continued for a month.

Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The cotton market opened fairly active and steady, with sales of 6,800 bales on the first call, which indicated a decline of two points on August, with later months one to two points above Saturday's closing figures. The early English cables were better on account of improved trade conditions in Great Britain. The Liverpool holders were inclined to ask higher prices owing to the small stock on hand.

Arranged a Match.

LONDON, July 20.—Tom Sullivan, who is agent for James Stantury, the champion sculler of Australia, in the negotiations for a match with Jacob Gaudaur, of Canada, says that a cable dispatch will be sent today, accepting Gaudaur's counter proposition to row for 250 pounds. It is proposed to row the race on the Thames river early in September. Gaudaur will be allowed 25 pounds for expenses.

Colored Women Meet.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Another convention of the colored women, whose aims are the elevation of their race began in this city today. This body is the National Confederation of Colored Women, and its meetings are held at the Nineteenth street Baptist church. It is said by the officers that this body is larger and more practical in its aims than the National League of Colored Women, which met here last week, by being nearer to the masses of the people, and carrying on work among that class which needs it most.

AWAY FROM HOME.

Death of Mrs. W. H. Dailey at Andrews,

Where She Was Visiting Her Parents —Demise of Mrs. Kaiser, of This City.

Yesterday morning at 4 o'clock, at Andrews, in this state, occurred the death of Mrs. Anna Amelia Dailey, wife of William H. Dailey, who resines at 37 Bass street, in this city.

About three months ago Mrs. Dailey, with her children, went to Andrews to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Shreves, who live at that place. Nine weeks ago she was taken sick with heart disease, and continued to grow worse until her death.

The deceased was thirty years old, and surviving her is her husband and two children, aged respectively six and three years. Mr. Dailey was formerly an engineer on the Wabash road in this city, but for sometime past has been engineer on the Grand Trunk road in Michigan, with a run from Battle Creek to Port Huron.

Mrs. Dailey was born at Niagara Falls, in Ontario, on December 7th, 1866, and with her parents came to this city twenty years ago. She was married nine years ago to Mr. Dailey. She was a member of the United Brethren church of this city, and was loved and esteemed by a large circle of friends for her many traits of Christian character.

The remains of the deceased will arrive from Andrews, over the Wabash, tomorrow at 12 o'clock and taken to the United Brethren church where, at 12:30 o'clock, the funeral services will be held. The funeral sermon will be preached by Rev. J. P. Stewart, of Wellsville, Ohio, one of the former pastors of Mrs. Dailey. The interment will be at Lindenwood.

Anna, the wife of John Kaiser, died at her home, No. 12 Force street, this morning. The deceased was born in Switzerland and was forty-two years old.

THOSE NEW BATS.

Billy Meyer Corrects an Irregularity in the Home Club.

Fort Wayne in the Ascendancy Again —Won at Washington Last Saturday.

Fort Wayne is getting up steam again now that Manager Billy Meyer has bought the boys some new bats, and there is evidence forthcoming to show that they are going to parallel their record of the first part of the season. At Washington, last Saturday, the Fort Waynes won by good batting. The score was:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	—	R.
Fort Wayne	0	2	0	5	0	1	2	2	*	—	12
Washington	0	3	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	—	9

Earned runs—Fort Wayne, 2; Washington, 1. Two base hits—Tebeau, Knell, O'Rourke, Ritz, Kuhn. Stolen bases—Tebeau, Knell, Ritz, Cargo, Kuhn, Mitchell. First base on balls—Off Carrick, 3; off Sowders, 5; off Beadle, 3. Hit by pitched ball—By Sowders, 1. Struck out—By Carrick, 2; Sowders, 2; Beadle, 1. Left on bases—Fort Wayne, 7; Washington, 6. Wild pitches—Carrick, 1. Umpire—Christy. Time of game—2:30.

OTHER INTER STATE GAMES.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 20—Saturday's game was the best of the season. Youngstown won by better base running and sharp fielding. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Youngstown	0	0	3	1	0	0	0	0	1	— 5

Hits—Youngstown, 5; Saginaw, 11. Errors—Youngstown, 4; Saginaw, 2 Batteries—Jordan and Zinran; Miller and Northwang. Umpire—Hogan.

NEW CASTLE, Pa, July 20—New Castle took the third game of the series from Jackson Saturday by superior batting The visitors were unable to connect with Hickman's delivery, and the two runs made by them were a base on balls and two hits. Jackson had five and New Castle two double plays of the most exciting nature. Sullivan's home run was the feature in a batting way. The game was a beautiful one. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
New Castle	0	0	2	1	1	0	0	0	0	— 4

Base hits—New Castle, 11; Jackson, 6. Errors—New Castle, 1; Jackson, 2. Batteries—Hickman and Donivan; Flaherty and Myers.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 20.—Toledo took the third and decisive game of the series with the Nailers Saturday. Coyle was in elegant form. Up to the fifth inning he had been hit safely but five times. In the succeeding innings the Nailers were retired in one, two, three order without a chance to score. Campbell started off well but in the latter innings he was hit hard, and this, with the loose fielding of the Wheelings, allowed the visitors to pile up a big lead. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Toledo	0	0	0	0	4	0	2	4	*	— 10
Wheeling	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	— 2

Hits—Wheeling, 11; Toledo, 9. Errors—Wheeling, 5; Toledo, 11. Batteries—Coyle and Arthur; Campbell and Shaw.

Dr. Chas. E. Stults, of Fort Wayne, who has been the guest of the family of his father-in-law, Tobe Miller, at Wabash, has returned home. Mrs. Stults and children will remain here for a short visit.

SUNDAY SINNERS.

An Array of Violators at Police Court.

Acting Mayor Bullerman's Biggest Court—Fines and Sentences.

Saturday night and Sunday yielded an unusual crop of sinners. They came one by one until the prospect became dubious for taking care of so many at one time in the station quarters.

This morning when Acting Mayor Bullerman arrived in the court where justice is meted out to unfortunate transgressors, he had to adjust his gold rimmed eyeglasses several times before he could fully take in the situation.

The first name called was Frederick Eix. The defendant appeared not but his forfeit of $11 50 was jingled on the mayor's desk. The charge against Eix was drunkenness and he was arrested by Officer White.

George Schmidt made his first appearance before his honor this morning on the charge of intoxication. George was quite surprised at his surroundings, as it was his first appearance before a court of law. In view of his promise to sin no more his sentence was suspended. Officer Passino arrested Schmidt Sunday.

Amy Sauers and a young fellow named H. Dawson were found in most uncompromising circumstances at an early hour Sunday morning in an alley between Baker and Chicago streets. This unchaste and troublesome girl had led the officers a merry chase the evening previous, therefore Officers Passino and Sharp set out earnestly to take her in, which they did so effectually that Amy will be able to do fancy work over in Sheriff Clausmeier's house of refuge for some time to come. Her fine was $5 and costs. Young Dawson was interceded for by friends, who represented that his father was already in jail and that he was the mainstay of the family. His sentence was suspended pending good behavior, and he was told to go to work. He left the court room with an apparent determination to do this.

It was Charles Weesner, though, who caused a broad smile to light up the the features of the court. Weesner recently came to this country from Germany and besides a trunk he brought with him a rich and resonant accent that would drive a Castle Garden "bobby" crazy. Humane Officer Schlaudroff was passing along Harmer street, Sunday, when he found Weesner sitting on his ancient trunk. He had struggled for the previous eight hours to find the Bass foundry. He knew that if he could only get as far as the foundry, fate would, by some strange miracle, see him through to his destination. He had been drinking a few schooners of lager to buoy him up and as he drank, the trunk got heavier and heavier until it threatened to fall and crush him through the sidewalk. For humanity's sake Officer Schlaudroff took him to the police station to sober up. He was sent to jail.

George Weeks, for trying to board a moving Nickel Plate train, was fined $1 and costs. He went to jail. Officer Dickson made the arrest.

Lewis Snyder pleaded not guilty to drunkenness, but here Officer Daseler could not agree with him. Mrs. Snyder appeared in court and stated that her husband was "not exactly drunk, but couldn't walk straight." Inasmuch as Snyder has been heard of before in police circles, $5 and costs was the figure put upon his offense. Snyder paid his fine, part in money and the other part by putting up his watch, and is now a free man.

VERY SMOOTH.

E. C. Miller Collects Another Man's Money.

Nicoll Leseno Has a Tale of Woe to Relate—Police After an Offender.

Last week Nicoll Leseno, an Italian dealer in fruit, who carries on a business on Calhoun street, near Brackenridge, employed a man named E. C. Miller to go out on the road to sell fruit. Miller proved to be an energetic salesman and later developments indicate that he is a good collector as well. At Kendallville, Auburn and Angola merchants bought liberally of Leseno's fruit. Miller in some manner secured the release of goods from the freight houses at these points and personally attended to the delivery of same. He also assumed the authority of collecting for these consignments, succeeding so well that Nicoll Leseno will probably have to go deep down into his sock to make up for the loss. In one instance Miller was paid with a check, which he endorsed and presented to the Farmers' bank at Auburn for payment. He got the money. Attorney Albert E Thomas has been employed to bring suit against the bank to recover the amount of the check and also to investigate the case and start the officers on Miller's trail.

The man, Miller, is about thirty years old and a smooth talker, and came to the city only a few days previous to going to work for Leseno.

Rifle Shooting.

LONDON, July 20.—The Bisley rifle shooting for the queen's prize opened today at the 200-yard rang. There were 1,900 entries. Out of a possible thirty-five the members of the Canadian rifle team made the following scores: Crowe, 32; Hayhurst, 30; Mitchell and Shearing, 31; Thorburn, 30. At the 800 yard range Miller made the highest score possible, 35. The other members of the team scored as follows: Campbell, Weller and Monroe, 31; MacDonald, Sergeant, Mitchell and Langsdorth, 29; Hart, Ogg and Bent, 28; Ross, Armurstong and Neill, 27; King, Huggins, Ruyons and Lavers, 24.

J. B. SHOAFF HURT.

Dragged on the Street by an Overturned Buggy.

A Child of Contractor John Suelzer Kicked by a Horse—Other Accidents.

An exciting accident, in which James B. Shoaff, the well known horse man, was an involuntary actor, attracted a large crowd in the court house square this morning. Mr. Shoaff was driving a spirited, though gentle, horse around the corner of Calhoun and Main streets, when two wheels of the buggy caught in the street railway switch, overturning the vehicle and throwing Mr. Shoaff to the ground. The horse, now unrestrained, dashed away with the buggy at its heels, and Mr. Shoaff, with the lines tangled about him, was dragged a short distance before the horse could be stopped. When picked up the injured man was in a dazed and helpless condition. He was conveyed to his home, at 436 West Main street, where an examination of his injuries resulted in finding several ugly cuts about the head, but fortunately no broken bones. Mr. Shoaff will be around again in a few days.

KICKED BY A HORSE.

A fifteen months old child of Contractor John Suelzer, of 420 South Hanna street, while playing in the barn Sunday, was kicked on the head by a horse and rendered unconscious by the blow. Strangely enough the little one's skull was not fractured but an ugly scalp wound was inflicted, which may terminate seriously if inflammation sets in. Drs. Schilling and Morgan attended.

NEEDLE IN HER FOOT.

Mrs. Collins, wife of Policeman Collins, stepped on a needle and Dr. Heaton was only partially successful in his efforts to extract it, as a piece of the steel point cannot be found.

THUMB CUT.

Joseph Metker, an employe in the stereotyping department of the Newspaper Union, had the thumb of his right hand mangled in the machinery today. Dr. Heaton will try to save the injured member.

FLOODED CELLARS.

Great Damage Done by Sunday's Rain Storm.

Lasalle Street Sewer Don't Carry Away Water Fast Enough—Goods Lost in the Flood.

That deluge which swept down upon our city and stayed with such determition all day Sunday must have been the one which originated Saturday night in Nebraska and dampened the ardor of the enthusiastic democrats who assembled at Lincoln to pay homage to their free silver hero and fellow townsman, William J. Bryan.

The storm was most unwelcome. The farmer did not need it, the respectable citizen was bitterly opposed to a "wet Sunday" and in fact it was a disappointing state of affairs all around. Excursionists going out of the city and coming in, were out for pleasure, but few found it.

Worst of all, this unprecedented rain of '96 flooded cellars, choked up sewers, converted roadways into lakes and did much damage that will take a long time to repair.

On Lasalle street a great pond of water stood between Lafayette and Hanna streets, the three foot sewer there being incapable of carrying off the water fast enough. Many cellars in that neighborhood were flooded with from two to four feet of water, causing great damage to goods.

The water stood four feet in the cellars under the stores of Philip Graf and P. A. Offenloch, on Lafayette street, and in the cellars in the immediate neighborhood.

The houses of William Beman, at 52 and 54 Hamilton street, were flooded and contents destroyed.

Many other cases of serious loss are reported, showing that yesterday's rain storm caused the biggest flood known in years.

Oil at Spencerville.

SPENCERVILLE, Ohio, July 18, 1896.

Editor SENTINEL:

The recent drop in the price of oil has brought the entire business to a standstill in this field.

Our heaviest operators, such as Beeman, Watson & Bernheimer, H. S. Smith & Co. and Maire Bros., have closed down entirely for the present.

A few wild catters are still at work in the Elgin and Van Wert county fields and some good wells are being found; however, just enough drilling will be done to hold the territory.

J. R. Welch & Co. landed another big 200 barrel well near Celina, Ohio, a few days ago in condemned territory. This will set things going anew in that locality again.

Ramsey Bros. have left this field and are now trying their fortunes in the Van Buren, Ind., field.

Jamieson Bros. have opened up a large field of paying territory to the northeast of the city, but will not drill any more wells at present.

The general feeling among the producers is that in the near future oil will again go up to paying prices and the monotony of the present will be broken.

THE all-day rain yesterday interfered with a good many plans.

MAYOR SCHEERER is giving us a ridiculously poor enforcement of the Sunday laws for a man who was elected on the personal pledge that he would enforce all the laws, with an emphasis on the "all."

THE Wabash Daily Times has changed from an evening to a morning paper.

FORT WAYNE is enjoying a pretty good sized residence building boom this summer.

THE populist convention, held at St. Louis, will claim attention in the political field this week.

MANY of our Fort Wayne people are now out of the city on their summer vacations and THE SENTINEL follows them and gives the home news.

NOT since the days of the political campaigns following the close of the war have politics run at such a high tide in this city as now. The discussion of the silver question seems to be indulged in by everybody, and it is a common sight to see crowds on the street gathered around excited debaters.

THERE is a wholesome democracy in Mr. Bryan which the people like. He prefers the regular railroad trains to a "special," and when on his ovation trip from Chicago to his home, insisted on taking his meals in the general dining room of the hotel. This is not affectation in Mr. Bryan. It can be said for him that he is a man of the people.

THE executive committee of the Indiana liquor league held a meeting at Indianapolis this week to canvass the situation and receive reports from members. According to reports submitted a number of the candidates of both parties nominated for the senate and house of representatives are favorable to the repeal of some parts of the Nicholson law and it was recommended that the league continue to work quietly in the direction of securing pledges and not enter upon an active canvass to control nominations. It developed in the meeting that the saloonmen who represented cities in which the law is not enforced are not in favor of any fight against, saying that it is a dead letter in their cities and a fight against it would have the effect of calling attention to it.

IF ALL reports are true more home-grown melons will be consumed in Allen county this season than has been for many years. This has been an excellent season for melons, and those who took the pains to plant early in the spring say that the vines are full. Present indications are that melons may be bought very cheap a little later on, or when the home grown article is placed upon the market.

GENERAL BRADLEY T. JOHNSON gives anything but a cheerful view of the conditions in Cuba, from which he has just returned. He predicts the ultimate success of the revolutionists, but he is of the opinion that the war will be prolonged unless the United States should interfere. The Spanish force, although apparently averse to making war except in a desultory way on women and children and the aged, is nevertheless so formidable in numbers that the patriots do not hope to conquer except by the adoption of a Fabian policy. The Cubans are reported as deadly in earnest and determined to drive the Spanish from their shores if it is necessary to starve them to retreat by a practical destruction of the island. This will mean ruin to many millions of property belonging to Americans.

International Arbitration.

The correspondence between the government of the United States and that of Great Britain touching the question of international arbitration, made public last week, while failing to show an agreement, discloses, nevertheless, a very considerable progress toward the result and fully justifies the hope of ultimate success. As Lord Salisbury indicates, the subject is new to both nations, and the effect of its operations would be more or less conjectural. But the obvious desire of both governments to reach an agreement, and the fact that on some essential points there is already complete concurrence of views, leaves little doubt that the tempering influence of time will in the end compass the purpose.

On the main point of difference, as exhibited by the correspondence, Lord Salisbury is palpably at fault, and no doubt the public sentiment of his country will soon bring him to a realization of that fact. He would have the form without the substance, which, in the language of Secretary Olney, would tend to "bring all arbitrating into contempt," and consequently would retard rather than advance the enterprise. Arbitration, to be effective, must be entered into with the fixed and predetermined purpose to abide by the result. Any other sort of arbitration is "boy's play" and unworthy the name. That it is experimental makes no difference. An experiment that is uncompleted is necessarily unsatisfactory, and arbitration that is not binding on those who participate in it is an incomplete experiment.

The failure to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion within the time that the matter has been under consideration is disappointing, but it should not cause despair. The great progress of civilization will soon force all governments into the adoption of some such plan for the settlement of interpational disputes and the two great English speaking nations must lead in the march to that result. Lord Salisbury may be able to delay the consummation for a time, but not long. The intelligent people on both sides of the ocean have set their hearts on this splendid reform.

THERE could scarcely be greater contrast than is found in the democratic and republican utterances on the money question, that which is enlisting the interest of the whole country at this time. For the purpose of comparison we give the coinage planks of each platform in parallel columns:

We demand the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. We demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, public and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent the demonetization of either metal.	We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country. We are therefore opposed to the coinage of silver except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote, and until such agreement can be obtained the existing gold standard must be preserved.—Republican Platform.
—Democratic Platform.

Progress of the Horseless Wagon.

From a paper by Cleveland Moffett on this subject in McClure's Magazine the following facts are gathered: At this time street railway companies in various cities are preparing to use horseless stages to transfer passengers between lines of road whose terminals are a considerable distance apart. The first line of successful horseless stages has been established in the west, in Colorado. Such a line is now in operation at Sulphur Springs in that state. At Portland, Me., however, there are motor buckboard wagons for hire by visitors who wish to try this mode of taking a carriage ride.

Hartford, Conn., is using motor fire engines and they promise to become common in all the cities. The Duryea horseless wagon that took first prize in the Chicago contest can travel 20 miles an hour on good roads, as fast as old fashioned railway trains could go. This wagon is operated by gasoline at a cost of about 1 cent for every three miles. All these horseless wagons can be driven at a cost so small as to be scarcely worth counting. The greatest difficulty to be overcome is the weight of the motor. Another trouble is to steer safely and easily.

One point mentioned by Mr. Moffett is of great importance and should be generally known. "In spite of the insistent claims of rival manufacturers it seems to be generally admitted by experts that no essential or exclusive patents are controlled by any one." The motor wagon is operated on a common, well understood principle that is nobody's property. The field is therefore open to any ingenious individual to go in and win.

Mr. H. H. Kohlsaat, who instituted the horseless carriage contest in Chicago last year, expects that in five years' time there will be five motor wagons on the streets of Chicago to one drawn by animal power. The gain in cleanliness, sanitary conditions and safety to the streets of cities when the motor wagon is used for all hauling, heavy and light, cannot be computed. No cobblestone pavements with their nerve racking din will then be necessary. Wood and asphalt paving will answer every purpose. Speed the day!

What a Mutton Magnate Is.

To the appellations "merchant prince," "oil king" and "coal baron" the far west has added another, the "mutton magnate." Twenty years ago vast fortunes were made in the cattle raising business on the western plains. For various reasons that industry is not so profitable as it used to be.

It has been superseded, however, by another in which possibly for some time to come more wealth will be amassed than was the case in the palmy days of the Texas steer. The new industry is sheep raising. Sheep are crowding the cattle off the range, which is growing smaller and smaller year by year, as the arable land is taken up by agriculturists. Bitter enmities have sprung up between the cattlemen and the sheep pioneers, enmities in some cases resulting in downright battles, with shooting accompaniment.

Meanwhile the sheep has nibbled its way steadily into the former cow pastures. It will stay. It requires less pasturage and can live on much less water than the beef animal can.

Wyoming is coming to be the heart of the great sheep raising region of the west. From the neighborhood of Casper alone 3,500,000 pounds of wool will be shipped as the result of this year's clip. The increase of the herds and the wool return to the sheep raiser in good seasons a profit of 60 per cent. Several sheep men, now worth $40,000 each, are said to have begun as herders, without a cent of capital, seven years ago. The richest of them are called "mutton magnates" in the west. They struck it redhot at the time when the people of this country generally began to manifest a growing taste for roast lamb and lamb chops.

What Is Privacy?

Is there any such thing? Mr. John Gilmer Speed is inclined to doubt it. In a paper in The North American Review he calls for a general law declaring that matters in the strictly private life and habits of a person, things which reflect in no way upon his character or fitness for any public position, things in short with which the public has no concern, shall be subject to publication only with the consent of the person.

In reference to the need of such a law Mr. Speed says:

> The illustrated journalism now prevalent finds its finest achievements in the publication of photographs surreptitiously taken. The value does not seem to lie in the fact that the photographs are of notabilities, but that they have been taken by stealth when the subjects were unconscious of the purpose of the person manipulating the camera. Indeed it is a well known fact that at least one of the newspapers of New York keeps a photographer busy in the streets of the metropolis taking snap shots at every person who appears to be of consequence. These are taked at once or filed away for use when occasion arises. Now, such practices are unquestionably invasions of the right of privacy, but we are told by the courts that the victims of such practices may not restrain by injunction the publication of photographs so taken, but that the remedy lies in a recovery for damages. This is no remedy at all, for the chances would be that some demagogue of a judge would declare that the hurt was but fanciful and too inappreciable for a merely earthly tribunal to estimate.

A poor Cuban farmer, 60 years old, was plowing his little patch of land in one of the provinces occupied by Spanish troops. His grandson, a boy of 12, played around him. A detachment of Spanish soldiers marched into the field and asked for the old man's son. He was not there. "Aha," said the Spaniard, "he was a rebel dog!" Then the Spaniards shot the old man dead because his son was a rebel, because he himself had been a rebel in the last war, and followed it up by killing the little boy so that he should not grow to manhood to be a rebel in the next war. This is Spanish fighting according to the rules of civilized warfare.

Much interest centers in the rival chases of Lieutenant Peary and Professor Dyche to see which shall first reach the big Greenland meteor and bring it home. The apparently roundabout way chosen by Dyche, up through Alaska and across the Arctic sea to the Greenland coast, makes it difficult for an outsider to understand how he expects to reach Greenland before Peary, who goes direct up the Labrador coast and into Smith's sound. But perhaps Dyche knows what he is about. His friends hint that he will have some surprises in store for us on his return, even perhaps to the extent of bringing a splinter off the pole home with him.

Minister Bayard appears to have discovered his mission among the British. It is to attend banquets, cornerstone layings, dedications, etc., and make a glowing, flowing speech. The voracious correspondent cables across the briny deep that for this purpose Thomas is as much in demand as the Prince of Wales. Well, there is one thing we can claim with modest pride anyhow. It is that Bayard can make a much better speech any day than the Prince of Wales can.

SET APART.

Christ's English Lutheran Church Dedicated.

Grand Meeting Held Yesterday—Addresses Made by Visiting Divines.

The rain did not dampen the interest or enthusiasm of Christ's English Lutheran church people yesterday. Their beautiful chapel, corner Webster and Jefferson streets, having been completed, was solemnly set apart, and the membership fairly excelled themselves in giving for the liquidation of the indebtedness.

Palms and flowers in profusion bedecked pulpit and altar and choir loft, filling the house with fragrance, while anthems and glorias made the sanctuary vocal with praise. The Sunday school assembled in goodly numbers, and were addressed by Rev. S B Barnitz, D D, western secretary of Home Missions, who cheered the young people even to enthusiasm in the work laid to their hands. The morning worship opened with the beautiful order of service of the Book of Worship, conducted by Rev. S. A. Ort, D. D., president of Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio. The sermon was by Rev. H. L Wiles, D. D., of Mansfield, Ohio, from Psalm xxxvi: 8, "They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house." The sermon was a strong one, setting forth the great advantages of the church to the community, and showing that those who contribute for church edifices make the best of investments. The sermon was followed by an appeal for funds on the part of Dr. Wiles, who showed himself an adept in such matters.

The responses were so liberal that in a little while more than the $1,500 asked for were subscribed.

In the afternoon the audience was considerably lessened by the continuous rain, but the interest on the part of those present never flagged. The opening service was conducted by Rev. Harry Lawrence, Van Wert, Ohio, and the sermon on "Attachment to God's House" by Rev. S B Barnitz D. D., Des Moines, Iowa. Dr. Barnitz is a forciable speaker and eminently practical.

At night Robt. Atkin, of Uniondale, conducted the opening service of prayer and Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Ort, of Wittenberg, preached one of the strongest sermons ever delivered in Fort Wayne. The theme was "The Certain Triumph of the Religion of Christ." It was really a masterpiece. At the close of each service an effort was made for funds, and the day closed with a subscription of $1,800. Considering the ability of the congregation this was remarkable.

The new edifice as it stands is only that portion which will eventually become the chapel to the main body of the church, extending to the front and facing on Jefferson street. It is the hope of the congregation that a few years will see them financially able to go ahead with the proposed extension. The present building is of brick, trimmed with Bedford stone. The stained glass windows are of choice design and the ornamental work executed with excellent taste. The chapel has a seating capacity of about 300.

The pastor, Rev. A. A Hundley, can be proud of his enterprising and zealous flock.

SKETCHES BY M. QUAD

He Died Like a Gentleman.

One of the men belonging to our camp had been shot by a stranger, and when the jury had returned their verdict Judge Watkins arose and said:

"Stranger, the sentence of this court is that you be taken out and hung by the neck."

"Just so," replied the man as he bowed to right and left. "Gentlemen, I'm sorry if I have put you to any extra trouble over this matter."

"Oh, it 's no pertickler trubble," replied the judge. "In course it sort of breaks up a day when we hang a man, but nobody kicks. We all feel that we sorter owe a duty to our feller man."

"Exactly—I see," said the stranger. "It is very kind of you to stop work in the busy season. May I inquire what sort of an arrangement you have for carrying out such affairs?"

"It's the old fashioned way of standin a man on a bar'l and kickin the bar'l away when all is ready. We've used it in about 30 cases and it has never failed to give satisfackshun. Did you want to try sunthin different, stranger?"

"Oh, no. No, I wouldn't want you to go to the trouble of erecting a regular gallows for my benefit. Lumber is pretty scarce this year. I suppose you have a man who knows all about adjusting the noose?"

"Sartinly, sir. Jim Wheeler allus 'tends to that part of the circus, and I've yit to hear the fust complaint. You needn't hev the least oneasiness about the noose."

"What time today could you pull the performance off?" asked the stranger after a bit.

"Waal, 3 o'clock is our reg'lar hour, but if you want it an hour earlier or later we'll try and accommodate you."

"Three o'clock suits me."

"Then we'll make it 3. That gives us time to hang you, dig the grave and clear up things before supper. Want to write any letters?"

"No, I guess not."

"Just as you feel about that. We hain't askin your name or pryin into your bizness. That hain't our way. Would you like a gravestun put up over yer mortal remains?"

"Would it be asking too much?"

"It wouldn't. We'll do it with the greatest cheerfulness. What name shall we put on the stun?"

"Nothing but Joe."

"All right, sir. It will be, 'Sacred to the mem'ry of Joe, who departed this life on Aug. 18, 1872.' We kin add, 'Of sich is the kingdom of heaven,' if you wish."

"No; that will do."

"Anything else you think of, stranger?"

"Nothing else."

He was removed to one of the shanties and placed under guard, and at 3 o'clock the men assembled and he was taken out and duly hanged. Just before the final act Judge Watkins solicitously inquired:

"Stranger, do you want a drink of whisky, a chaw of terbacker or anything else we hev on hand?"

"Thanks, but I'm provided for," was the reply.

"You ain't blamin us?"

"Oh, no."

"Arrangements all to your satisfackshun?"

"Perfectly so."

"Then let 'er go, and don't worry about the gravestun."

A RUSSIAN HEALER.

JOHN CRONSTADT HAS THE POWER OF HEALING.

His Influence Felt Everywhere—Collects Vast Sums from the Rich and Distributes Them With a Lavish Hand Among the Poor.

ONE of the best known names in Russia to-day is that of Father John of Cronstadt; or, in Russian form, Father Ioann Sergieff Kronstadtsky. When the late Emperor Alexander III. lay on his death bed, we read that Father John had been sent for across the whole length of Russia, to administer spiritual consolation, and had been present when none others save the imperial family were admitted. Father John's departure for Moscow to attend the coronation of the young Emperor was chronicled in the Russian press in company with that of royal princes and great officials of the state. And now that a great calamity has saddened the coronation festivities, the cable tells us that Father John of Cronstadt is comforting and blessing the mourners as they seek to find their dead.

Father John is a living illustration of the manner in which a man can rise, in the best sense, from the very lowest to the very highest class of society in a country where most foreigners would believe such a thing to be impossible. His father was a poor semi-ecclesiastical survivor of the church in a small village of the Archangel government, situated even a little further north than Arctic Archangel itself. He was not even a clever boy, according to his own account, until he prayed with tears for enlightenment.

He received it, rose from the bottom to the head of his class, and, what is more important for himself and others, acquired that fervent belief in prayer wherein lies his strength.

The Rev. Father John was ordained to the priesthood 40 years ago last November, and appointed to the church in Cronstadt of which he is now the archpriest. From the day of his appointment he began to treat his poor parishioners of St. Petersburg's seaport town with the tender, winning affection born of his own experience of hardship and poverty. But his chief fame arose from his power in prayer, which, as thousands firmly believe, effects miracles in the way of healing soul and body.

FATHER JOHN.

The Rev. Father John himself lays no claim to any power. He does assert that a half hour in fervent prayer every night will suffice to keep a person spiritually healthy and happy, even when the prayer is forced, in seasons of coldheartedness. Nevertheless, he has been credited with not only cures but the power of prophecy.

The Rev. Father John is in no wise remarkable in appearance, except that his blue eyes are piercing to a degree, and appear to have the power to look into one's very soul and read what is there. He is a simple, straightforward, profoundly devout man, who believes unquestionably in the power of prayer. His firm faith encourages sufferers, inspires the weak of heart and morals, stirs up the rich to give large sums of money by which the poor profit, and which they would not otherwise give at all, in all probability. The Rev. Father John himself derives no advantages from either money or aristocratic friends.

He gives without asking whatever sum he may happen to have in his pocket; or his mode of operation is so nearly that that it may fairly be described in these general terms. The indisputable service which Father John renders is that he rouses sluggish hearts, souls, consciences to action, more or less vigorous; that he puts into the sick the desire and courage to live, which, as any doctor will admit, is generally half the battle. In that sense, he probably does effect many cures, whole or partial.

On another occasion three young men made up their minds to have some fun out of the respected priest, and to deceive him, with the object of ruining his reputation for penetration. One of them went to the Rev. Father John and asked him to come and pray beside his dying friend. The Rev. Father John did not refuse, but he said beforehand: "You are trifling with God." On entering the room he found the second scamp writhing on the bed in apparent agonies, while number three was wailing and lamenting. The Rev. Father John took a good look at the room (where there was no holy picture) and at them; knelt down, crossed himself and said: "Lord, deal with them according to their faith. Amen." Then he quickly left the room. But when the imaginary invalid attempted to rise from the bed he found himself really and seriously ill with a nervous attack. It was only after the jokers had done penance and been well lectured by the Rev. Father John that the sick man recovered.

GIRL'S HEROIC ACT.

Miss Perez of New York Who Rescued a Man from Certain Death.

An unknown bicyclist was thrown from his wheel in front of a New York trolley car the other afternoon. His head struck the track with such force as to render him unconscious. Several men stood by while Miss Perez heroically went to the rescue of the fallen man. She drew him clear of the track just as the car dashed past. The rail of the car badly bruised one of the brave young woman's arms. This is not Miss Perez' first act of heroism. When her home was in flames she rescued her sister and grandmother, both of whom wer overcome by the smoke.

MISS PEREZ.

Girdling the World.

When Shakespeare wrote about putting a girdle around the earth in forty minutes, the idea was as visionary as that of communicating with the stars in the firmament. Not long ago at the Electric Fair, a message was sent from one gallery to the other by way of Vancouver and Tokio, the message arriving in something less than fifty minutes. Of course, this does not run actually around the world, but it demonstrates the possibilities of the electrical current, and shows us that when the new Pacific cable is finished it will require a good deal less than fifty minutes to circumnavigate the globe with an electric message. The future of electricity has wonderful promise, much greater than we are able to realize, especially so in view of the fact that our most eminent electricians frankly amit that they only understand the a-b-c's of it.

Chinaman Weds a White Girl.

An unusual wedding took place at the New England Congregational church of Aurora, Ill. The groom is a Chinaman and the bride a Chicago girl of German parentage, who has been in Aurora since last fall. Ang Ton Wong and Miss Georgie Ehleis were united in matrimony at the close of the evening church service by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Sturtevant. Ang, who is better known in Aurora by his given name, Ah Wong, is a prosperous laundryman who has made his home in that city many years. In connection with his laundry he conducts a small store, selling Chinese specialties. He has espoused the Christian religion and would gladly become a citizen of the United States if he could find a court which would issue him naturalization papers.

sat in the pavilion, listening to the music of the orchestron. The excursion was a surprise to the management, the crowd being greater than anticipated, and proves that Fort Wayne as an attractive excursion point is equal to any of the cities or pleasure resorts in the state of Indiana. Col. R. G. Thompson, the Wabash district passenger agent, announces that the excursion will be repeated on Sunday, August 9, when efforts will be made to bring 2 000 people here.

THE ROME CITY EXCURSION.

The Fort Wayne outing party and a rain storm, which continued throughout the day, arrived at Rome City simultaneously yesterday morning. The only variations in the weather during the day consisted in the rapidity with which the moisture descended upon the scene. It rained from 10 o'clock in the morning until after the last train pulled out for home in the evening, increasing in volume as the day advanced and forming rivulets and pools of water throughout the parks and in the paths leading to the various buildings, boat landings and fishing places. But, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the greater portion of the excursionists managed to get a good deal of enjoyment out of the trip. Those piscatorially inclined who were provided with macintoshes or umbrellas, fished from boats and bridges, and some of those who were not so provided did likewise. And the fishing was never better than it was yesterday, many fine strings of bass, bluegills and catfish finding their way into the baskets and buckets of the anglers. At 6 o'clock in the evening, when the excursionists began to grow restless, the welcome announcement was made that the train would return in two sections, the first leaving at 6:30 and the second at 8 o'clock. There were ten coaches in the train which took the party to Rome City, and six of them were filled with people and started for Fort Wayne at the early appointed hour, while the remaining four were held until the regular hour of departure. There were no accidents or incidents calculated to mar the pleasure of an excursion other than the inclement weather, and with a few exceptions, all seemed to enjoy the "outing." There were 465 persons in the party.

THE FINDLAY CROWD

Threatening weather kept many Buckeyes at home yesterday, who would have been with us had the sun been shining in the early morning. As it was, the regular Sunday train from Findlay brought in sixty-one passengers, and most of them came from Ottawa and points this side. These excursionists spent the day in sight-seeing about the city, much in the same manner as did the Hoosiers from the Wabash valley.

LAKE ERIE AND WESTERN.

The Lake Erie and Western railway's excursion train for Cincinnati left this city at 5 o'clock yesterday morning with less than 100 passengers It was better patronised from towns south of here, however, and went into Cincinnati with eighteen coaches and nearly 1,000 persons. Muncie contributed greatly to the crowd, furnishing fully one-third of the number. Returning, the train left Cincinnati at 7:30 and reached her some time after midnight, being delayed some hours by slippery rails and the heavy load.

THE ELECTRIC EMPLOYES' EXCURSION.

The electric light employes have about completed the program for the entertainment of those who go with them to Rome City on Saturday, July 25 The First Regiment A. O. U. W. band has been hired for the occasion and there will be innumerable races both on land and water, and other athletic contests. The executive committee of the excursion is composed of Messrs A. E Barnes, Thomas Duncan, C. C. Miller, A. L Hadley, John J. Bauer, C. Strube, J. Chadwick, P. B. Bosworth and D. C. Davis.

LEG INJURED.

John P. Leitz, who is employed in the store room at the electric works, was engaged in handling a small motor Saturday afternoon, when the grab hooks broke and the machine fell. In its descent it broke one of the bones of Mr. Leitz's right leg and bruised and skinned the other limb badly. He was taken to his home on Jones street, in a cab, and a surgeon reduced the fracture and dressed the wound.

BRIEF MENTION.

Electric light employes were paid today.

Henry Knoche, of the Bass blacksmith shop, is sick and off duty.

Class X engine 267 was taken in the Pittsburg shop this morning for repairs.

Supt. G. L. Potter, of the Pennsylvania, went to the Toledo division on business today.

Steps are under way to wind up the receivership of the Norfolk and Western by October 1.

John Gribbins has returned to his duties in the electric works after a week's vacation, spent in fishing.

Blacksmith Eugene LaPoint, of the Erie shops, at Huntington, and his family, were the guests of Mrs. D. D. Williams over Sunday.

Hal Bitzberger, the Grand Rapids fireman, left last Saturday for a ten days' outing in northern Michigan.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton handled in June at the Toledo terminal 2,220 more cars than in June, 1895.

Theodore Dobler is back at the desk in the Pittsburg round house office again, after a few days with friends in Chicago.

The Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City earned in the second week of July $45,787 69, an increase over the corresponding week of 1895 of $12,860 84

Mrs. George Barter, of Huntington, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Holmes, over Sunday. Mr. Barter is a boilermaker in the employ of the Erie road.

Foreman G. A. Szink, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, is keeping bachelor's hall, his wife and daughter having gone to Harrisburg, Pa, to visit relatives.

Clerk C. L. Daseler, of the Pittsburg machine shop, is enjoying a week's respite and Ambrose Benedict is performing the clerical duties of the department.

James V. Costigan has resumed his clerical duties at the electric works after a vacation of ten days. He visited nearly all the surrounding towns and had a good time.

Z. Hamar, for many years a conductor on the Michigan division of the Big Four, later trainmaster of the Wabash, now has a good position on one of the roads running into Denver, Colo.

Conductor Bassett West, of the Wabash, is the proudest man on the system, for he has been given charge of a newly built caboose, No. 343, and has fixed it up as neat as a modern palace.

William Hannan, who was the victim of a Fourth of July accident, in which he barely escaped the loss of both eyes, was able to resume work at the factory of Rhinesmith & Simonson this morning.

William Leach, of the brass moulding room, Pittsburg shops, is the happy owner of the bicycle formerly owned by George Ryan. On account of poor health Mr. Ryan had to abandon riding a wheel.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago has the roadway for a third track graded between Allegheny and Rochester, and is only waiting for the business depression to pass off before commencing the laying of the rails.

Willie Berdan, secretary and treasurer of the Cooke Locomotive works, and who has been with that company for thirty-one years, has resigned to become secretary of the National Association of Locomotive Builders.

A special train on the Panhandle carrying the Baptist young people to Milwaukee made the run from Pittsburg to Chicago, 508 miles, in twelve hours and fifty minutes, being one of the fastest runs on record between those points.

As a result of the postmaster general's order prohibiting the carrying of unstamped railroad mail in baggage cars, the Chicago Railroad Exchange has been closed. The exchange has acted as a distributing center for mail for fifteen years.

The Pennsylvania has issued a new book of instructions on the Westinghouse air brake, made necessary by certain changes in valves which would improve the air brake and signal system. The new books are smaller than those now carried by trainmen.

The Lake Erie and Western railroad company has made it obligatory on the part of conductors to go through their train on reaching terminal points for the purpose of securing for safe keeping any articles which may be forgotten by the passengers when leaving the coaches.

Frank Stone, the traveling man, has nearly completed a fine house on Liberty street, near the Comparet homestead. He expects to move into the house about September 1. Ed. Davis, engineer at the Standard Wheel works, is also preparing to build in the same addition.

Wabash engine 71, which was bringing No. 5 down from Toledo this morning, gave out at Defiance. The engine which was taking freight train 98 east was detached at Napoleon and sent back to Defiance to complete the run for the disabled engine. No. 5 came in just one hour late.

The weather conditions of the past three days have not been conducive of health and as a consequence the sick list at the Pittsburg shops is of unusual length. Included among the unfortunates are L Linker, Casper Hartong and P. E. Albers. Henry Danmeyer, who was on the absentee list last week, reported this morning.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago is obliged to run its fastest trains through New Brighton for nearly a mile and a half at a speed limit of ten miles an hour. The company has asked the privilege of fencing the road on both sides, that the speed of trains may be increased The double tracks are in one of the streets of New Brighton the entire distance.

Charles H Doebler, master mechanic of the Wabash railway, went to Wabash Saturday evening, where he was the guest of honor at the banquet tendered him by the engineers of the Michigan division of the Big Four railway, of which road Mr. Doebler was lately master mechanic. A very elaborate menu was prepared and covers were laid for 100 guests. Mr Doebler is a very popular man with his former enginemen, and the banquet was given as a token of their esteem for him.

Capt S K. Miller, of Oil City, Pa, is in the city for medical treatment by Dr. J. W Younge, for dropsy, resulting from Bright's disease. Captain Miller served as captain during the war in the tenth Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, and his company was the advance skirmish line at Gettysburg July 2, 1863, when the brigade took little Round Top from General Longstreet's Texans, under command of General Hood.

EXCURSION DAY.

Sunday Notable for Its Many Outing Parties.

The Wabash Brings 700 People Here and the Grand Rapids Takes 500 to Rome City.

Yesterday was distinctively "excursion day" in and about this city. Those citizens who did not go to Robison park, Rome City or Cincinnati were entertaining at their homes friends from the towns along the line of the Wabash and the Findlay roads, or watched with sympathizing hearts the little groups of bedrabbled, water soaked strangers who all day long plodded aimlessly about the streets in search of amusement.

WABASH EXCURSION.

The Wabash company brought about 725 people into the city yesterday. The train, which consisted of nine coaches and a baggage car, started from Peru and picked up excursionists at almost every station between that city and Fort Wayne. Huntington furnished the biggest delegation, there being 456 tickets sold at that point, while the agent at Peru only reported 60 Wabash did fairly well also, sending up nearly 150 excursionists. The intention was to take the excursionists to Robison park, there to spend the day in the beautiful groves but owing to the disagreeable weather this feature of the excursion was abandoned and the excursionists scattered about the city, those having relatives or friends here hunting them up and spending the day with them. Those not so fortunate crowded into the hotels, the Y. M. C. A. reading rooms and other accessible places of shelter, while a few went out to the park and

THE NEW ABLEGATE.

FALCONIO, WHO MAY SUCCEED SATOLLI, IS AN AMERICAN.

Although He Is an Archbishop in Italy, He Studied and Worked In the United States For Many Years and Became a Citizen.

Archbishop Diomedes Falconio, who will succeed Cardinal Satolli, it is rumored, as the papal delegate at Washington, is an American citizen. Although he is an Italian by birth and has been for many years in charge of an archdiocese in Italy, more than one-third of his life has been passed in America, and it was here that he obtained the greater part of his education.

Archbishop Falconia is 55 years old and a member of the Reformed Order of Franciscans, to which both the pope and Cardinal Satolli belong. His clerical career has been brilliant and his rise a most rapid one. As the papal delegate he would be at the head of Roman Catholic affairs in this country, having authority even over Cardinal Gibbons and serving as the spokesman for the pope when that dignitary had anything to communicate to the church here. He would have power to settle all disputes between archbishops and other church officials and would occupy the elaborate quarters in Washington where Cardinal Satolli now resides. Upon the confirmation of the delegate Satolli will return to Rome, where he will take the red hat and assume the other emblems of his office, which he has not yet done.

Few prelates have taken such rapid strides toward the top as has Archbishop Falconio. He was born in a little town in the province of Abruzzo, Italy, which was in the Franciscan province of St. Bernardine. At an early age he joined the order of St. Francis, and after three or four years of study in the local monastery he went to Rome, where he studied for five years more. While at Rome there was a call from the minister general of the order for mission workers. Among those who responded was Father Diomedo, as he was known then, and Father Anacletus, who has reached the head of the order here, and who has been a lifelong friend of the archbishop. The two young men came to this country over 30 years ago, neither of them being able to speak a word of English. They went at once to the Franciscan college of St. Bonaventure in Alleghany, Cattaraugus county, N. Y., where they continued their studies and readily mastered the English language. Father Diomedo was ordained a priest and began teaching theology there. At the end of three years he was made president of the institution.

Both he and Father Anacletus became enthusiastic over America, its institutions and government, and both took out naturalization papers at Little Falls, N. Y., becoming citizens and voting at state and national elections.

ARCHBISHOP FALCONIO.

They were both sent as missionary priests to Winsted, Conn. After two years of work there Father Diomede was sent to Harbor Grace, N. F., on a similar errand. For ten years he labored in that bleak country with a good deal of success and then came back to the United States, where for a time he assisted Father Anacletus in slum missionary work in New York city. It was at this time that he applied for permission to return to Italy that he might visit his aged parents, whom he had not seen for 35 years. The request was granted, and he sailed, fully expecting to return in a few months at the latest.

While in Italy he was appointed provincial of the province of the order in St. Bernardine, his native province, and his work was marked with such success that he attracted the favorable notice of the minister general. He had simply applied some of his enterprising American methods to his new duties. He was appointed for a second term, but was again advanced and was unanimously elected procurator general of a branch of the order known as the reformed Franciscans.

He had served but three years in his new office when he was appointed by the pope as bishop of Lacedogna, and in October last he was still further honored by being put at the head of two united archdioceses, with the title of archbishop of Accrenza and Matera, Italy. The office is not a titular one merely, but involves the direction of affairs in the two dioceses as well as the administration of the diocese of Lacedogna. On account of these recent honors it was thought by some, when it was announced that the archbishop would succeed Satolli as papal delegate, that another advancement would not so soon follow, but this is not a necessary conclusion.

Archbishop Falconio's rapid rise is undoubtedly due largely to his remarkable administrative abilities. He is a tireless worker and an active organizer. His friends say that he seems to have a genius for bringing order out of disrupted and disintegrated dioceses, and that he would be a particularly effective man for the post of ablegate.

Father Anacletus, who was his intimate friend for years, says that the archbishop is a man of broad views, of gentle nature, affable and courteous manners, and one who is thoroughly in love with America. He will not have to be accompanied by an interpreter, as was Cardinal Satolli, for he speaks English as fluently and with as much eloquence as he does Italian. It is denied that the regular clergy in the Catholic church of this country will protest against the appointment on the ground that a secular priest, as the members of the monastic orders are called, should not be set over the regular clergy. There always have been some slight differences between the two branches, but it is doubtful if the American archbishops would go to the length of objecting to the person whom the pope might see fit to appoint as his personal representative.

HOT WEATHER DYSPEPSIA.

Thousands Suffer From It at This Season of the Year.

Hot weather dyspepsia may be recognized by the following symptoms: Depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, loss of flesh and appetite, no desire for food, bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, wind in stomach and bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness, weariness, costiveness, headache, palpitation, heartburn. It is a mistake to treat such troubles with "tonics," "blood purifiers," "cathartics," "pills," because the whole trouble is in the stomach. It is indigestion or dyspepsia and nothing else.

All these symptoms rapidly disappear when the stomach is relieved, strengthened, and cleansed by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They should be taken after meals and a few carried in the pocket to be used whenever any pain or distress is felt in the stomach. They are prepared only for stomach troubles.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by such physicians as Dr. Harlandson, Dr. Jennison, and Dr. Mayer, because they contain the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which when taken into the stomach cause the prompt digestion of the food before it has time to ferment and sour, which is the cause of the mischief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are pleasant to take and unequaled for invalids, children and every person afflicted with imperfect digestion. Is is safe to say they will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Nearly all the druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents. A book on stomach troubles and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

NEWS NOTES.

Phoenix lodge will meet tonight.

Miss Carrie Wilson is at Lake Wawasee.

Fort Wayne lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., will meet tonight.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Irwin, of Monroe street—a son.

The rain played havoc with many programs laid out for yesterday.

J. H. Daily, of West DeWald street, has taken a position at Montpelier.

Mrs. W. F. Geller is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Thomas Neal, of Hamilton, Me.

Miss Bessie Burgess left Saturday for Buffalo, N. Y., to visit relatives for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Bassett and daughter, of Madison street, will go to Van Wert tomorrow on a visit.

The marriage of Miss Julia Casanave of this city, to Mr. Anderson, of Altoona, Pa., will occur in Philadelphia tomorrow.

Miss Elizabeth Waldman, of Van Wert, Ohio, was the guest of her cousin, Miss Basset, of Madison street, over Sunday.

Kittie and Mae Foster of Huntington, spent Sunday in this city, the guests of the Misses Manuel of Brackenridge street.

Professor Ort, of the Wittenberg college at Springfield, Ohio, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Meyer, of South Harrison street.

A fishing party consisting of Harry Bash, Bert Fonner, J. E. Gaskins, Arthur Dougall and Frank Edmuuds went to West Lake yesterday.

Peaches are arriving in the city every day in large quantities and are selling at remarkably low figures considering the early season.

E. H. Doud had arranged an elaborate program to be carried out at Lake Everett yesterday, but the rain caused a postponement of events.

Mrs. Fred Hull, of St. Louis, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Mendenhall, of Clinton street, has gone to Constantine, Mich.

Deputy State Fish Commissioner Koepke, is visiting the lakes and rivers in the northern part of the state to hunt down violaters of the fish law.

Mrs. Charles McCulloch and Master Fred and Miss Edith Zollars and Master Horace expect to leave for Bear lake on Wednesday to remain several weeks.

Miss Edna Reuss has returned from Altoona, Pa., where she has for four weeks been a guest in the family of Mr. F. D. Casanave, formerly of this city.

Arnold and Walter Curtice, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Curtice, gave a party to their young friends of the neighborhood today, at their home, 15 West Creighton avenue.

Miss Lillie Davis, of 401 South Clinton street, will leave tomorrow for Columbus, Ohio, where she will be the guest of Miss Blanche Cullison, formerly of this city, a few days.

Sid G. Throckmorton, formerly in the cigar business in this city, but lately of Columbus, Ohio, has returned and will engage in his old trade at the cigar factory of Cohen & Law, on Harrison street.

Miss Helen Reimensnyder, of Lancaster, Pa., who taught in the high school in this city two years ago, has written an interesting novel entitled "Unchaperoned," which is published by A. F. Fenno, of New York.

Detective John T. Norris, who has gained much notoriety, has his name in the papers again. At Columbus, Ohio, he is showing some detective camera pictures which he took of legislators in questionable resorts, which he is using to prevent the repeal of the Winn liquor law. Norris is well known in this city.

It was five weeks ago yesterday that W. F. Geller, the well known Broadway confectioner and baker, met with the accident in which he broke a leg. Although getting along very nicely, he is still unable to leave his bed at all. It will be two weeks yet before he will be able to sit up. His physician says he will not be lame when he gets well.

The Pericleans of this city, consisting of Fort Wayne and Summit temples, and their friends, will give a social picnic at Robison park next Wednesday afternoon and evening. The ladies will go out at 2 o'clock p. m. from the corner of Main and Calhoun street, well provided with lunch, and the gentlemen will go at 7 p. m. A good time is assured.

To-day application was made to the faculty of the Fort Wayne College of Medicine by T. J. Schweiss, of Findlay, Ohio, for a certificate showing that he was entitled to practice medicine. He claimed to have received a diploma of Dr. Sunrise, the Indian doctor, in this city, a few years ago, but had lost it. Dr. Stemen informed the man that such a diploma was worthless, and no such a certificate as that asked for could be issued.

Manager Robison has extended an invitation to the clergy of the city to partake of the hospitality of the Fort Wayne Consolidated Street Railway company at Robison park. He leaves the date open to be fixed by them, and a meeting will be held to select a day.

A dastardly attempt at assault was made at 8:30 o'clock last evening at the first alley west of Lafayette street on East Creighton avenue. The victim was a young married lady, who was seized about the neck as she was passing that point, by a man who tried to stifle her cries by putting his hand over her mouth. The lady carried an umbrella and, tearing herself from the grasp of the brute, she pounded him over the head until he turned and ran away as fast as possible. She describes her assailant as a beardless youth of perhaps seventeen or eighteen years.

Frank Stone, the traveling man, is erecting a $1,500 residence on Liberty street, in John W. White's addition. Mr. Stone's house will be fitted up with modern improvements.

J. M. Landenberger, son-in-law of J. F. W. Meyer, the druggist, is erecting a two-story frame residence just north of the Meyer residence, on the west side of Fairfield avenue The cost will be $2,500.

Contractor Young has commenced the erection of four frame houses with stone foundations, on the west side of Wells street, north of the big storage barn, for Charles Pape and Perry Randall.

A double two-story brick house has been built for William Horstman, the contractor at the southwest corner of Hanna and Madison streets. It has been built to rent to two families and the cost is about $2,000.

Paul Martin is building a new house on Chestnut street, one block north of the New Haven road in the extreme eastern part of the city. It is a neat one and one-half story frame house with a porch on three sides.

Architects Grindle & Weatherhogg have drawn plans for the remodeling of Richard Meyers' building on Wayne street, where the Hamilton reading reading room is now located. The cost of the improvment will be $2,500.

R. L. Romy has built one of the finest residences in this city, on Spy Run avenue. It has fourteen rooms and cost the proprietor, including grading and other improvements, $10,000, and it is Mr. Romy's future home.

The American Daughters of Isabella will hold an important meeting tonight.

ROBISON PARK.

Extra Attractions for the Coming Week.

Manager Robison will present an entire new list of attractions for the patrons of Robison park this week. Mack's dog and monkey circus, consisting of several trained dogs and monkeys, will amuse the people, and the Norwood Bros, the monarchs of the gymnastic world, will be seen in their wonderful triple horizontal bar performance. Two performances will be given daily during the week, at 3:30 and 8:30 p. m. The Standards and Eagles will play a game of base ball at 2:30. The Wabash and Findlay roads will both run special trains to the park today, and the indications are that the popular park will have a large crowd.

GIRL CAUSES TWO DEATHS.

Archibald Askew Shoots Arthur Callahan and Then Kills Himself.

QUINCY, Ill., July 20.—Archibald Askew shot Arthur Callahan three times and then killed himself at Kingston, south of this city, Saturday night. Askew's daughter was stopping at Callahan's house and there was a quarrel over the way she had been treated. Askew called at Callahan's house and abused the girl. When Callahan remonstrated Askew drew a revolver and shot three times, one of the bullets going through Callahan's head. Then he sat down on the porch and asked Callahan's forgiveness. When this was denied Askew put the pistol to his head and blew out his own brains.

Irving's Son Weds.

LONDON, July 20.—Many members of the dramatic profession were at St. Pancras church today to witness the wedding of Mr. Henry B. Irving, eldest son of Sir Henry Irving, and Miss Dorothea Baird. Lady Irving, Sir Henry Irving and Ellen Terry were among those present. Mr. George DuMaurier, the author and artist, gave the bride a diamond pendant and an original drawing.

Hard Times Continue.

But we Find a Way to keep Things Moving.

In June of this year our sales exceeded the same month of 1895 by 45 per cent., and the same month of 1894 by 72 1-2 per cent.

We doubt if there are a dozen firms in the West which can show such an extraordinary increase in sales under such a discouraging condition of retail trade.

But the recent enlargement of our already very extensive salesrooms—our increase in stock, especially in fine and very fine goods and our cut in prices to about one half the profits of former times, has given us a patronage altogether beyond anything we have ever enjoyed.

THE POPULISTS

Are Gathering at St. Louis.

All the Leading Men Now Present

And Busy Hobnobbing in the Interest of Party.

A Heavy Downpour of Rain Damages Hunting and Dampens Enthusiasm.

ST. LOUIS, July 20—The rain poured down in steady sheets today and served to dampen the ardor of the arriving populists and silverites. The gay bunting which decorated the entrance to the Lindell, the populist headquarters, sagged and flagged and the leaders kept closely huddled within the walls. Those who were quartered at other hotels were slow in venturing forth to the respective meeting places. Only the sergeant at arms and the secretaries were active early, arranging the final details as to decorations and seats.

The populists are making extensive preparations for the populist press, which they expect here in force. They claim over 2,000 reform papers in various parts of the country and most of these papers, they believe, will be represented.

Some of its representatives held an informal conference late last night. A strong sentiment against an equivocal endorsement of the Chicago ticket, which might result in the complete annihilation of the populistic organization, prevailed. The general feeling was that the silver forces should be united but only in a way that would preserve their organization.

While most of them seemed disposed to unite through some plan on Bryan, they were bitterly opposed to Sewall and some were strongly of the opinion that a separate platform should be adopted which will include demands for many additional reforms.

A Bolt Probable.

The belief continues to be generally prevalent that a bolt is among the strong probabilities of the populist convention, whatever the course decided upon by the majority.

The delegates are constantly arriving now, and the larger the crowd becomes, the more evident is the intensity of feeling over the one question at issue. This question is whether to endorse Bryan and Sewall or to nominate an independent ticket.

In a general way the contest is between the north and the south. The western and northern delegate calls himself a populist and the southern delegate also refers to himself as a populist. Many of the delegates express the opinion that they may at no distant day be separate parties.

The northern men, as a class, contend that in the endorsement of Bryan lies the only hope of making the influence of the party felt or of achieving practical results, while the southern men, remembering their many contests with the democrats of their section, maintain that such a course is utterly suicidal. The feeling is the same whether among leaders, or the rank and file, the only difference being that the former discuss the issue in committee rooms and the latter in the hotel corridors. Both classes are equally earnest and both declare that there is but one course open.

The crowds are not large, but the men are all very evidently greatly in earnest, and any two of opposing views, who engage in a controversy, have no difficulty in attracting a crowd, any number of which is only too glad to take up the thread of the discourse of his champion. They are all debators, and all well informed in the issues at stake.

The Bryan followers talk split more openly than their opponents. They are perfecting a thorough organization and mean to make a strenuous effort to secure the endorsement of the democratic nominee. They do not publicly admit that there is any possibility that they will not be able to control the convention, but privately many of them say that if they are not in the majority, and if a separate ticket is nominated they will walk out of the convention and appeal to the people to the support of Bryan and Sewall. The other crowd are more reticient, but the feeling is none the less intense.

Distinguished Arrivals.

The Nebraska delegation, with United Statet Senator Allen at its head, arrived today, making a visible augmentation of the Bryan forces. The members of the delegation say that the populist party of the state is solid for Bryan, and express confidence in his endorsement.

"Why should not we endorse Bryan?" said Senator Allen, asking a question in reply to one. "It is good policy—the wise and proper thing to do. Mr. Bryan represents three, if not more of the important populist doctrines: The free and unlimited coinage of silver, the income tax and a revenue tariff. Our endorsement of Bryan gives reasonable hope of success at the polls. With our endorsement he will win. If we fail to endorse him the logical effect will be the as if [illegible] ley. Hence the choice is between McKinley and gold and an abnormally high tariff, and Bryan with free silver, a tariff for revenue, the income tax and other reforms."

"What is the prospect of his endorsement?' was asked. "I think it good," was the reply. "There is a good deal of noisy demonstration in the hotel corridors in opposition, but it amounts to nothing

The senator expressed the opinion that whether Bryan was endorsed or not, the populist convention would promulgate a platform of its own.

Lawrence J. McPharlin, of New York, one of the general secretaries of the national populist committee, arrived today. He expressed the opinion that Bryan would be nominated, though not endorsed, and that an arrangement would be reached for an equitable division of electors. He thinks the Omaha platform will be reaffirmed with the addition of a plank endorsing the initiative and referendum system.

J. E. Anderson and Dr. Evans, two delegates from Iowa, also came in. They are for Bryan under certain conditions, but are not yet prepared to wholly commit themselves.

Senator Jones for Bryan.

Senator Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the democratic national committee, ate early breakfast at the Planters, this morning, with Governor Stone and at 9 o'clock repaired to his parlor to receive callers. Scores of cards were in his room when he got back to it, and he began immediately to have his visitors ushered in. Senator Stewart, of Nevada, was one of the first admitted and close on the heels of the Nevadan followed Col. Thomas Patterson, the populist leader of Colorado. At 10 o'clock the prospects were that Senator Jones would be engaged all day in private conference with populistic leaders. He said:

"I hope the populist convention will endorse Bryan and Sewall and since I arrived here, I have received a good deal of encouragement of that hope. It occurs to me that everybody who believes in the free coinage of silver can with perfect good grace and confidence vote for our nominees and thus assure the restoration of bimetallism at the earliest possible date."

Nebraska's Statement.

Some of the members of the Nebraska delegation, among them Senator Allen, today prepared the following statement: "The Nebraska delegation is a unit for Bryan. They know him well. His life has been a fulfillment rather than a mere promise. We know his high character and eminent fitness for the office of president. He is our neighbor and we are not deceived in him. If elected he will be the greatest man that has occupied the white house since the days of Lincoln, and in his broad and genuine sympathy for the masses he more nearly resembles Mr Lincoln than any public man we can recall. The nomination of a third ticket would be the exact equivalent of a genuine endorsement of McKinley, the single gold standard, an abominable high tariff tax, continued gold bond issues, a perpetual public debt, cruel and heartless corporation for the next four years and possibly for all time. If elected president Mr. Bryan will know no democrat, no populist, no republican. There will be no stepchildren in his political family. All who have been with the united reform forces in the fight will be on an equal footing. He will be the people's candidate. Nebraska is for Bryan."

This enthusiastic statement coming from the populists of Bryan's own state attracted the most attention. The Nebraska delegation is thoroughly organized and is doing missionary work among the "middle of the road" populists. "We want to show them," said Senator Allen, "where the middle of the road is."

Jerry Simpson's Views.

Ex-Congressman Jerry Simpson, who is a very shrewd observer, is strongly of the opinion that Bryan and Sewall will be endorsed. "The issue is paramount," said he, "and men dare not play politics at such a time as this. If this convention should refuse to endorse Bryan, the populist party would not contain a corporals guard in November. Honest endorsement is the only salvation of the party. So far as Kansas is concerned, it matters not what this convention does, we will endorse Bryan and vote for silver."

George W. Brewster, of Falls City, Neb., who is the populist candidate for congress, is here urgently advocating Bryan's nomination, not endorsement. "Endorsement," said he, "implies acceptance of the democratic platform. We should adopt our own platform and nominate Bryan. That would unite the democrats and populists on the silver issue, but still maintain our organization as a seperate entirety. Our platform, I think, will practically be a reiteration of the Omaha platform with a few changes and an additional plank or two, the most important of which is the initiative and referendum declaration."

Mr. Brewster says that the demand for fusion or a separate ticket and platform comes from the south, where the populists have been persecuted, but he believes as the western delegates arrive and bring their influence to bear, the south will "listen to reason."

Ladies in the Convention.

There will be three, if not more, lady delegates in the populists' convention. [illegible] of [illegible]

York and one from Pennsylvania. The committee of ladies which is giving its attention to securing the adoption of a female suffrage plank in the platform are counting upon the zealous assistance of these lady delegates. Some of the members of this committee, headed by Mrs. Victoria Conkling Whitney and Miss Ella E. Buie, were at the Lindell early today to make arrangements for a hearing before the committee on resolutions. They were early assured of the hearty co operation of Senator Peffer and Hon. J. B. Weaver and are very hopeful of receiving an unequivocal endorsement of equal suffrage. They will ask to have a plank inserted providing "that congress shall submit to the legislatures of the several states a proposition to so amend the federal constitution as to provide that the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

Delegate Wardell, of California, and his wife, are actively co operating in this work. They bring a message from Miss Susan B. Anthony, expressing her hope that the populists will take a positive stand on the question.

THE COURTS.

Two Young Fishermen Accused of Larceny.

The Geary Case on Trial—County Commissioners Considering Liquor Licenses.

Gaylord Watson and Gill McNabb, two young men of Cedarville, had a hearing before Justice Huser this morning and were bound over to court in the sum of $500 each to answer to the charge of larceny preferred against them. The defendants were arrested by Officers Maurice and George Harrod.

The young fellows, it seems, were out on a fishing expedition, but in order to provide an outfit for their camping had gone to the house of Liddy Grafl and others and stolen a regular batch of articles; table cloths, bed clothes, kettles, cooking utensils, hams, etc. The act took place on the 12th of July.

The first batch of cases against Geary, the saloonkeeper, for conducting a saloon near Robison park, is on trial this afternoon before Justice Bullerman. The affidavits are for Sunday violations, selling at unlawful hours and in an unlawfully manner. They are prosecuted by the managers of the street car company. The defendants' attorneys are Judge W. G. Colerick and Will Colerick.

The county commissioners are engaged in considering applications for liquor licenses. There are no particular contests, but there are some questions concerning other business or amusements which the applicants want to conduct in connection with liquor selling. Mr. S. L. Morris is the board's legal adviser, and they are not likely to make any mistakes in their conclusions.

PLATT J. WISE.

The Efficient Chief Deputy of the Sheriff Eighty-One Years Old.

Mr. Platt J. Wise, the chief deputy of Sheriff Clausmeier, is eighty-one years old today and is being congratulated by those of his friends who are aware of the fact that this is the anniversary of his birth.

Mr. Wise grows old gracefully and still retains much of the vigor of his former days. His mind is wonderfully clear and he is correct in all his business methods. He is rich in reminiscences of the past and it is always a pleasure to talk to him. Mr. Wise has been in the sheriff's office for years and is a favorite with everybody.

Murderous Deed of Etta Robins at Huntington.

A. J. Call and Daughter Killed and Other Children Horribly Slashed by the Demon.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va, July 20—A. J. Call and Nettie Call, his daughter, were killed in a shanty boat, six miles east of here this morning. Lollie Call will also die and several small children are at the point of death.

Etta Robins is in jail accused of the murder of all of them, using as a weapon a double bit ax.

Call and daughter, who are dead, have their heads severed and all the children are slashed in a horrible manner.

One woman leaped into the river and saved her life.

The greatest of excitement prevails No cause is assigned for the deed.

POOL ROOMS WILL REOPEN.

Missouri Law, Under Which They Closed, Declared Unconstitutional.

KANSAS CITY, July 20—Under a decision made by Judge Wofford, of the criminal court, gambling on horse races outside of the state may be resumed in Kansas City. By virtue of this decision pool rooms which were closed in 1891, when the Stone anti-pool room law went into effect, will speedily reopen.

Judge Wofford held that the law which made it a felony to bet or accept bets on a race, except on a course where the race is run, is unconstitutional because it was special legislation which did not bear equally on all citizens. Such special legislation is prohibited by the state constitution. The decision was made in the cases of L. M. Bliter, Sam Lewis and Charles Oldham, who was arrested for keeping a pool room.

Lawyers say it is the first time the constitutionality of the law has been passed on in this state and that the effect of Judge Wofford's decision is to throw down the bars to all people who wish to sell pools on horse races, and that many pool rooms will be opened as a result of it.

CLEVELAND'S CLEMENCY

Given to Three Men Who Had Been Sentenced to Death.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The president has commuted to imprisonment for life the death sentences imposed upon three Texans, John C. Ball, Tom Davis and Taylor Hickman. They were to be hanged September 8th next. In the case of Ball, the president says that while he has been twice convicted of murder, the judge and district attorney both urge the commutation on account of the youthful convict, and for other cognent reasons. Davis and Hickman are full blooded Indian boys, of thirteen and fourteen years respectively, without any appreciation of the enormity of the brutal and cold blooded homicide committed by them, and in their cases also the judge and district attorney strongly urged the commutation.

BOON TO WEARY BOARDERS.

Ohio Man Has an Invention for Correcting False Notes of a Piano.

CINCINNATI, O., July 19—Dr. S. A. Hageman of this city has applied for a patent on an invention which promises to create a sensation among musicians. It is a mechanism to be applied to the piano for the purpose of correcting the false tones of that instrument, which have hitherto been regarded as a necessary evil. The invention makes the piano as true as the violin and it accomplishes the result by a sort of mechanical fingering similar to the human fingering on the violin. Competent musicians say the problem has been successfully solved. The inventor is a half brother of the late Professor Swing, of Chicago.

DEAD IN THE RUINS.

Three Bodies are Found in the Car Barn Fire.

CHICAGO, July 20—Three men were killed and it is feared that two more perished in the fire Saturday evening which destroyed the Cottage Grove avenue barn of the Chicago City Railway company. The dead are: Frank Crosby, towboy, 104 Thirty-ninth street; William L. Elwell, gripman, 4018 Cottage Grove avenue; Patrick Martin, conductor, 5458 Ingleside avenue. The missing are: Bertram Fulford, 99 Thirty-ninth street, blacksmith; last seen attempting to rescue frightened horses from the car stables; unidentified man, seen to fall through the roof of the hay barn.

Cornelius Vanderbilt.

NEW YORK July 20—Cornelius Vanderbilt, according to his physicians, passed a comfortable night. Dr. McLean left the residence at 6:45 o'clock this morning. He said that while he had been in the house all night, he had not found it necessary to remain all the time at the bedside of the patient. Mr. Vanderbilt, he said, had slept soundly from 11 o'clock last night until 6 o'clock this morning.

Against Free Coinage.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal, July 20—The California socialist labor convention has adopted a platform protesting against the free coinage of silver on the ground that such action would be class legislation, inasmuch as, it alleges, it would benefit the debtor class at the expense of capitalists. The platform declares that free silver would not benefit laboring men as wage earners and are not, as a rule, debtors.

THEY WANT BRYAN.

The Populists Desire Him as Their Candidate.

Telegram Sent to the Democratic Nominee by the California Delegation En Route to St. Louis.

KANSAS CITY, Mo, July 20—While en route to the national populist convention the California delegation, thirty-nine strong, last night issued an open letter to the democratic presidential nominee, William J. Bryan, urging him to go before the country as the nominee of the populist party. The letter was composed and dispatched while the delegation was waiting for its train to St. Louis, Dr. G. W. Daywalt, of San Francisco, being chosen secretary and instructed to write it. The letter says in part:

"If you will accept the nomination of the people's party, declaring yourself a populist, you will become a leader to whom will rush every reformer—be he silverite, democrat or republican—and not only be elected yourself, but also elect the congress, the law making power. This is the opportunity of your life, if taken advantage of, and will like Lincoln with the republicans, send your name down to history as a savior of your country by means of populism. If you do not do it, we must, in defense of our principles, put another nominee in the field. Can you thus be elected?"

DR. JAMESON.

Hearing of His Case in the London Courts.

LONDON, July 20.—The first trial at bar since the famous Tichborne claimant case was begun today when Dr. Jameson, Major Sir John Willoughby, Col. R. Gray, Col. H. F. White, Major R. White and Henry F. Coventry were arraigned before Lord Chief Justice Russell, Baron Pollock and Mr. Justice Hawkins. The charge against the defendants is violation of the neutrality laws by invading the territory of the South African republic. Most of the leading members of the bar of Great Britain have been engaged either for the prosecution or for the defense.

Long before the hour had arrived for the beginning of the trial every nook and corner in the court room allotted to spectators was thronged. There were many ladies among those present

Sir Edward Clarke, for the defendants, made a motion to quash the indictment on the ground that it was indifinite in its allegations and that it had not been proven that the foreign enlistment act had been proclaimed when the offense alleged had taken place. Sir Richard Webster, Q. C., the attorney general, replied on behalf of the government. When the attorney general had closed his argument the court adjourned until tomorrow.

REVELS IN CONVENTIONS.

Five of Them Will Give Performances This Week.

ST. LOUIS, Mo, July 20.—Five conventions will be held in St Louis this week, namely: Populists, silver, direct legislation, co-operative and reform press association. E. V. Debs will address the direct legislation convention. Among those who will read papers at the co operative convention will be Editor A. S. Edwards, of the Nation; Editor B. O. Flower, of the Arena, and Edward Bellamy, author of "Looking Backward."

DROWNED IN NAGOWICA LAKE.

Walter Nunnemacher Meets Death While Fishing.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 19.—Walter Nunnemacher, son of the late Rudolph Nunnemacher, was drowned while fishing in Nagowica lake. The body was recovered and brought to this city last night.

Cleveland's Centennial.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 20.—Notwithstanding the threatening weather and occasional showers, many thousands of persons gathered early today around the great arch, upon which the finishing touches are now being placed, in the center of Monumental square, in commemoration of the one hundreth anniversary of the founding of the city of Cleveland. The centennial celebration proper began today, and every incoming train brought big crowds of visitors to witness the festivities which will be continued for a month.

Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The cotton market opened fairly active and steady, with sales of 6,800 bales on the first call, which indicated a decline of two points on August, with later months one to two points above Saturday's closing figures. The early English cables were better on account of improved trade conditions in Great Britain. The Liverpool holders were inclined to ask higher prices owing to the small stock on hand.

Arranged a Match.

LONDON, July 20.—Tom Sullivan, who is agent for James Stanbury, the champion sculler of Australia, in the negotiations for a match with Jacob Gaudaur, of Canada, says that a cable dispatch will be sent today, accepting Gaudaur's counter proposition to row for 250 pounds. It is proposed to row the race on the Thames river early in September. Gaudaur will be allowed 25 pounds for expenses.

Colored Women Meet.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Another convention of the colored women, whose aims are the elevation of their race began in this city today. This body is the National Confederation of Colored Women, and its meetings are held at the Nineteenth street Baptist church. It is said by the officers that this body than the National League of Colored Women, which met here last week, by being nearer to the masses of the people, and carrying on work among that class which needs it most.

AWAY FROM HOME.

Death of Mrs. W. H. Dailey at Andrews,

Where She Was Visiting Her Parents—Demise of Mrs. Kaiser, of This City.

Yesterday morning at 4 o'clock, at Andrews, in this state, occurred the death of Mrs. Anna Amelia Dailey, wife of William H. Dailey, who resides at 37 Bass street, in this city.

About three months ago Mrs. Dailey, with her children, went to Andrews to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Shreves, who live at that place. Nine weeks ago she was taken sick with heart disease, and continued to grow worse until her death.

The deceased was thirty years old, and surviving her is her husband and two children, aged respectively six and three years. Mr. Dailey was formerly an engineer on the Wabash road in this city, but for sometime past has been engineer on the Grand Trunk road in Michigan, with a run from Battle Creek to Port Huron.

Mrs. Dailey was born at Niagara Falls, in Ontario, on December 7th, 1866, and with her parents came to this city twenty years ago. She was married nine years ago to Mr. Dailey. She was a member of the United Brethren church of this city, and was loved and esteemed by a large circle of friends for her many traits of Christian character.

The remains of the deceased will arrive from Andrews, over the Wabash, tomorrow at 12 o'clock and taken to the United Brethren church where, at 12.30 o'clock, the funeral services will be held. The funeral sermon will be preached by Rev. J. P. Stewart, of Wellsville, Ohio, one of the former pastors of Mrs. Dailey. The interment will be at Lindenwood.

Anna, the wife of John Kaiser, died at her home, No. 12 Force street, this morning. The deceased was born in Switzerland and was forty-two years old.

THOSE NEW BATS.

Billy Meyer Corrects an Irregularity in the Home Club.

Fort Wayne in the Ascendancy Again—Won at Washington Last Saturday.

Fort Wayne is getting up steam again now that Manager Billy Meyer has bought the boys some new bats, and there is evidence forthcoming to show that they are going to parallel their record of the first part of the season. At Washington, last Saturday, the Fort Waynes won by good batting. The score was:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9—	R.
Fort Wayne....	0	2	0	5	0	1	2	2	*—	12

SUNDAY SINNERS.

An Array of Violators at Police Court.

Acting Mayor Bullerman's Biggest Court—Fines and Sentences.

Saturday night and Sunday yielded an unusual crop of sinners. They came one by one until the prospect became dubious for taking care of so many at one time in the station quarters.

This morning when Acting Mayor Bullerman arrived in the court where justice is meted out to unfortunate transgressors, he had to adjust his gold rimmed eyeglasses several times before he could fully take in the situation.

The first name called was Frederick Eix. The defendant appeared not but his forfeit of $11 50 was jingled on the mayor's desk. The charge against Eix was drunkenness and he was arrested by Officer White.

George Schmidt made his first appearance before his honor this morning on the charge of intoxication. George was quite surprised at his surroundings, as it was his first appearance before a court of law. In view of his promise to sin no more his sentence was suspended. Officer Passino arrested Schmidt Sunday.

Amy Sauers and a young fellow named H. Dawson were found in most uncompromising circumstances at an early hour Sunday morning in an alley between Baker and Chicago streets. This unchaste and troublesome girl had led the officers a merry chase the evening previous, therefore Officers Passino and Sharp set out earnestly to take her in, which they did so effectually that Amy will be able to do fancy work over in Sheriff Clausmeier's house of refuge for some time to come. Her fine was $5 and costs. Young Dawson was interceded for by friends, who represented that his father was already in jail and that he was the mainstay of the family. His sentence was suspended pending good behavior, and he was told to go to work. He left the court room with an apparent determination to do this.

It was Charles Wesener, though, who caused a broad smile to light up the the features of the court. Wesener recently came to this country from Germany and besides a trunk he brought with him a rich and reconant accent that would drive a Castle Garden "bobby" crazy. Humane Officer Schlaudroff was passing along Harmer street, Sunday, when he found Wesener sitting on his ancient trunk. He had struggled for the previous eight hours to find the Bass foundry. He knew that if he could only get as far as the foundry, fate would, by some strange miracle, see him through to his destination. He had been drinking a few schooners of lager to buoy him up and as he drank, the trunk got heavier and heavier until it threatened to fall and crush him through the sidewalk. For humanity's sake Officer Schlaudroff took him to the police station to sober up. He was sent to jail.

George Weeks, for trying to board a moving Nickel Plate train, was fined $1 and costs. He went to jail. Officer Dickson made the arrest.

Lewis Snyder pleaded not guilty to drunkenness, but here Officer Daseler could not agree with him. Mrs. Snyder appeared in court and stated that her husband was "not exactly drunk, but couldn't walk straight" Inasmuch as Snyder has been heard of before in police circles, $5 and costs was the figure put upon his offense. Snyder paid his fine, part in money and the other part by putting up his watch, and is now a free man.

VERY SMOOTH.

E. C. Miller Collects Another Man's Money.

Nicoll Leseno Has a Tale of Woe to Relate—Police After an Offender.

Last week Nicoll Leseno, an Italian dealer in fruit, who carries on a business on Calhoun street, near Brackenridge, employed a man named E. C. Miller to go out on the road to sell fruit. Miller proved to be an energetic salesman and later developments indicate that he is a good collector as well. At Kendallville, Auburn and Angola merchants bought liberally of Leseno's fruit. Miller in some manner secured the release of goods from the freight houses at these points and personally attended to the delivery of same. He also assumed the authority of collecting for these consignments, succeeding so well that Nicoll Leseno will probably have to go deep down into his sock to make up for the loss. In one instance Miller was paid with a check, which he endorsed and presented to the Farmers' bank at Auburn for payment. He got the money. Attorney Albert E Thomas has been employed to bring suit against the bank to recover the amount of the check and also to investigate the case and start the officers on Miller's trail.

The man, Miller, is about thirty years old and a smooth talker, and came to the city only a few days previous to going to work for Leseno

FLOODED CELLARS.

Great Damage Done by Sunday's Rain Storm.

Lasalle Street Sewer Don't Car Away Water Fast Enough—Goods Lost in the Flood.

That deluge which swept down upo our city and stayed with such determ tion all day Sunday must have been t one which originated Saturday night Nebraska and dampened the ardor the enthusiastic democrats who as sembled at Lincoln to pay homage their free silver hero and fellow towns man, William J. Bryan.

The storm was most unwelcome T farmer did not need it, the respectal citizen was bitterly opposed to a "we Sunday" and in fact it was a disappoin ing state of affairs all around. Excu sionists going out of the city and com ing in, were out for pleasure, but fe found it.

Worst of all, this unprecedented ra of '96 flooded cellars, choked up sewer converted roadways into lakes and di much damage that will take a long tim to repair.

On Lasalle street a great pond water stood between Lafayette a Hanna streets, the three foot sewe there being incapable of carrying the water fast enough. Many cellar in that neighborhood were flood with from two to four feet of wate causing great damage to goods.

The water stood four feet in t cellars under the stores of Philip G and P. A. Offenloch, on Lafaye street, and in the cellars in the imm diate neighborhood.

The houses of William Beman, 52 and 54 Hamilton street, were floode and contents destroyed.

Many other cases of serious loss ar reported, showing that yesterday's ra storm caused the biggest flood know in years.

THE all-day rain yesterday interfered with a good many plans.

MAYOR SCHERER is giving us a ridiculously poor enforcement of the Sunday laws for a man who was elected on the personal pledge that he would enforce all the laws, with an emphasis on the "all."

THE Wabash Daily Times has changed from an evening to a morning paper.

FORT WAYNE is enjoying a pretty good sized residence building boom this summer.

THE populist convention, held at St. Louis, will claim attention in the political field this week.

MANY of our Fort Wayne people are now out of the city on their summer vacations and THE SENTINEL follows them and gives the home news.

NOT since the days of the political campaigns following the close of the war have politics run at such a high tide in this city as now. The discussion of the silver question seems to be indulged in by everybody, and it is a common sight to see crowds on the street gathered around excited debaters.

THERE is a wholesome democracy in Mr. Bryan which the people like. He prefers the regular railroad trains to a "special," and when on his ovation trip from Chicago to his home, insisted on taking his meals in the general dining room of the hotel. This is not affectation in Mr. Bryan. It can be said for him that he is a man of the people.

THE executive committee of the Indiana liquor league held a meeting at Indianapolis this week to canvass the situation and receive reports from members. According to reports submitted a number of the candidates of both parties nominated for the senate and house of representatives are favorable to the repeal of some parts of the Nicholson law and it was recommended that the league continue to work quietly in the direction of securing pledges and not enter upon an active canvass to control nominations. It developed in the meeting that the saloonmen who represented cities in which the law is not enforced are not in favor of any fight against, saying that it is a dead letter in their cities and a fight against it would have the effect of calling attention to it.

IF ALL reports are true more home-grown melons will be consumed in Allen county this season than has been for many years. This has been an excellent season for melons, and those who took the pains to plant early in the spring say that the vines are full. Present indications are that melons may be bought very cheap a little later on, or when the home grown article is placed upon the market.

GENERAL BRADLEY T. JOHNSON gives anything but a cheerful view of the conditions in Cuba, from which he has just returned. He predicts the ultimate success of the revolutionists, but he is of the opinion that the war will be prolonged unless the United States should interfere. The Spanish force, although apparently averse to making war except in a desultory way on women and children and the aged, is nevertheless so formidable in numbers that the patriots do not hope to conquer except by the adoption of a Fabian policy. The Cubans are reported as deadly in earnest and determined to drive the Spanish from their shores if it is necessary to starve them to retreat by a practical destruction of the island. This will mean ruin to many millions of property belonging to Americans.

International Arbitration.

The correspondence between the government of the United States and that of Great Britain touching the question of international arbitration, made public last week, while failing to show an agreement, discloses, nevertheless, a very considerable progress toward the result and fully justifies the hope of ultimate success. As Lord Salisbury indicates, the subject is new to both nations, and the effect of its operations would be more or less conjectural. But the obvious desire of both governments to reach an agreement, and the fact that on some essential points there is already complete concurrence of views, leaves little doubt that the tempering influence of time will in the end compass the purpose.

On the main point of difference, as exhibited by the correspondence, Lord Salisbury is palpably at fault, and no doubt the public sentiment of his country will soon bring him to a realization of that fact. He would have the form without the substance, which, in the language of Secretary Olney, would tend to "bring all arbitrating into contempt," and consequently would retard rather than advance the enterprise. Arbitration, to be effective, must be entered into with the fixed and predetermined purpose to abide by the result. Any other sort of arbitration is "boy's play" and unworthy the name. That it is experimental makes no difference. An experiment that is uncompleted is necessarily unsatisfactory, and arbitration that is not binding on those who participate in it is an incomplete experiment.

The failure to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion within the time that the matter has been under consideration is disappointing, but it should not cause despair. The great progress of civilization will soon force all governments into the adoption of some such plan for the settlement of international disputes and the two great English speaking nations must lead in the march to that result. Lord Salisbury may be able to delay the consummation for a time, but not long. The intelligent people on both sides of the ocean have set their hearts on this splendid reform.

THERE could scarcely be greater contrast than is found in the democratic and republican utterances on the money question, that which is enlisting the interest of the whole country at this time. For the purpose of comparison we give the coinage planks of each platform in parallel columns:

We demand the free We are unalterably and unlimited coinage opposed to every of both gold and silver at measure calculated to the present legal debase our currency ratio of 16 to 1, without or impair the credit waiting for the aid or of our country. Progress of the Horseless Wagon.

From a paper by Cleveland Moffett on this subject in McClure's Magazine the following facts are gathered: At this time street railway companies in various cities are preparing to use horseless stages to transfer passengers between lines of road whose terminals are a considerable distance apart. The first line of successful horseless stages has been established in the west, in Colorado. Such a line is now in operation at Sulphur Springs in that state. At Portland, Me., however, there are motor backboard wagons for hire by visitors who wish to try this mode of taking a carriage ride.

Hartford, Conn., is using motor fire engines and they promise to become common in all the cities. The Duryea horseless wagon that took first prize in the Chicago contest can travel 20 miles an hour on good roads, as fast as old fashioned railway trains could go. This wagon is operated by gasoline at a cost of about 1 cent for every three miles. All these horseless wagons can be driven at a cost so small as to be scarcely worth counting. The greatest difficulty to be overcome is the weight of the motor. Another trouble is to steer safely and easily.

One point mentioned by Mr. Moffett is of great importance and should be generally known. "In spite of the insistent claims of rival manufacturers it seems to be generally admitted by experts that no essential or exclusive patents are controlled by any one." The motor wagon is operated on a common, well understood principle, that is no-

Christ's English Lutheran Church Dedicated.

Grand Meeting Held Yesterday—Addresses Made by Visiting Divines.

The rain did not dampen the interest or enthusiasm of Christ's English Lutheran church people yesterday. Their beautiful chapel, corner Webster and Jefferson streets, having been completed, was solemnly set apart, and the membership fairly excelled themselves in giving for the liquidation of the indebtedness.

Palms and flowers in profusion bedecked pulpit and altar and choir loft, filling the house with fragrance, while anthems and glorias made the sanctuary vocal with praise. The Sunday school assembled in goodly numbers, and were addressed by Rev. S B Barnitz, D D, western secretary of Home Missions, who cheered the young people even to enthusiasm in the work laid to their hands. The morning worship opened with the beautiful order of service of the Book of Worship, conducted by Rev. S A. Ort, D. D., president of Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio. The sermon was by Rev. H. L Wiles, D. D, of Mansfield, Ohio, from Psalm xxxvi: 8, "They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house." The sermon was a strong one, setting forth the great advantages of the church to the community, and showing that those who contribute for church edifices make the best of investments. The sermon was followed by an appeal for funds on the part of Dr. Wiles, who showed himself an adept in such matters.

The responses were so liberal that in a little while more than the $1,500 asked for were subscribed.

In the afternoon the audience was considerably lessened by the continuous rain, but the interest on the part o' those present never flagged. The opening service was conducted by Rev. Harry Lawrence, Van Wert, Ohio, and the sermon on "Attachment to God's House" by Rev S B Barnitz D. D., DesMoines, Iowa. Dr. Barnitz is a forcible speaker and eminently practical.

At night Robt. Aikin, of Uniondale, conducted the opening service of prayer and Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Ort, of Wittenberg, preached one of the strongest sermons ever delivered in Fort Wayne. The theme was "The Certain Triumph of the Religion of Christ." It was really a masterpiece. At the close of each service an effort was made for funds, and the day closed with a subscription of $1,800. Considering the ability of the congregation this was remarkable.

The new edifice as it stands is only that portion which will eventually become the chapel to the main body of the church, extending to the front and facing on Jefferson street. It is the hope of the congregation that a few years will see them financially able to go ahead with the proposed extension The present building is of brick, trimmed with Bedford stone. The stained glass windows are of choice design and the ornamental work executed with excellent taste The chapel has a seating capacity of about 300

The pastor, Rev. A. A Hundley, can be proud of his enterprising and zealous flock.

What a Mutton Magnate Is.

To the appellations "merchant prince," "oil king" and "coal baron" the far west has added another, the "mutton magnate." Twenty years ago vast fortunes were made in the cattle raising business on the western plains. For various reasons that industry is not so profitable as it used to be.

It has been superseded, however, by another in which possibly for some time to come more wealth will be amassed than was the case in the palmy days of the Texas steer. The new industry is sheep raising. Sheep are crowding the cattle off the range, which is growing smaller and smaller year by year, as the arable land is taken up by agriculturists. Bitter enmities have sprung up between the cattlemen and the sheep pioneers, enmities in some cases resulting in downright battles, with shooting accompaniment.

Meanwhile the sheep has nibbled its way steadily into the former cow pastures. It will stay. It requires less pasturage and can live on much less water than the beef animal can.

Wyoming is coming to be the heart of the great sheep raising region of the west. From the neighborhood of Casper alone 3,500,000 pounds of wool will be shipped as the result of this year's clip. The increase of the herds and the wool return to the sheep raiser in good seasons a profit of 60 per cent. Several sheep men, now worth $40,000 each, are said to have begun as herders, without a cent of capital, seven years ago. The richest of them are called "mutton magnates" in the west. They struck it redhot at the time when the people of this country generally began to manifest a growing taste for roast lamb and lamb chops.

What Is Privacy?

Is there any such thing? Mr. John Gilmer Speed is inclined to doubt it. In a paper in The North American Review he calls for a general law declaring that matters in the strictly private life and habits of a person, things which reflect in no way upon his character or fitness for any public position, things in short with which the public has no concern, shall be subject to publication only with the consent of the person.

In reference to the need of such a law Mr. Speed says:

The illustrated journalism now prevalent finds its finest achievements in the publication of photographs surreptitiously taken. The value does not seem to lie in the fact that the photographs are of notabilities, but that they have been taken by stealth when the subjects were unconscious of the purpose of the person manipulating the camera. Indeed it is a well known fact that at least one of the newspapers of New York keeps a photographer busy in the streets of the metropolis taking snap shots at every person who appears to be of consequence. These are used at once or filed away for use when occasion arises. Now, such practices are unquestionably invasions of the right of privacy, but we are told by the courts that the victims of such practices may not restrain by injunction the publication of photographs so taken, but that the remedy lies in a recovery for damages. This is no remedy at all, for the chances would be that some demagogue of a judge would declare that the hurt was but fanciful and too inappreciable for a merely earthly tribunal to estimate.

A poor Cuban farmer, 60 years old, was plowing his little patch of land in one of the provinces occupied by Spanish troops. His grandson, a boy of 12, played around him. A detachment of Spanish soldiers marched into the field and asked for the old man's son. He was not there. "Aha," said the Spaniard, "he was a rebel dog!" Then the Spaniards shot the old man dead because his son was a rebel, because he himself had been a rebel in the last war, and followed it up by killing the little boy so that he should not grow to manhood to be a rebel in the next war. This is Spanish fighting according to the rules of civilized warfare.

Much interest centers in the rival chases of Lieutenant Peary and Professor Dyche to see which shall first reach the big Greenland meteor and bring it home. The apparently roundabout way chosen by Dyche, up through Alaska and across the Arctic sea to the Greenland coast, makes it difficult for an outsider to understand how he expects to reach Greenland before Peary, who goes direct up the Labrador coast and into Smith's sound. But perhaps Dyche knows what he is about. His friends hint that he will have some surprises in store for us on his return, even perhaps to the extent of bringing a splinter off the pole home with him.

Minister Bayard appears to have discovered his mission among the British. It is to attend banquets, cornerstone layings, dedications, etc., and make a glowing, flowing speech. The voracious correspondent cables across the briny deep that for this purpose Thomas is as much in demand as the Prince of Wales. Well, there is one thing we can claim with modest pride anyhow. It is that Bayard can make a much better speech any day than the Prince of Wales can

He Died Like a Gentleman.

One of the men belonging to our camp had been shot by a stranger, and when the jury had returned their verdict Judge Watkins arose and said:

"Stranger, the sentence of this court is that you be taken out and hung by the neck."

"Just so," replied the man as he bowed to right and left. "Gentlemen, I'm sorry if I have put you to any extra trouble over this matter."

"Oh, it 's no pertickler trubble," replied the judge. "In course it sort of breaks up a day when we hang a man, but nobody kicks. We all feel that we sorter owe a duty to our feller man."

"Exactly—I see," said the stranger. "It is very kind of you to stop work in the busy season. May I inquire what sort of an arrangement you have for carrying out such affairs?"

"It's the old fashioned way of standin a man on a bar'l and kickin the bar'l away when all is ready. We've used it in about 30 cases and it has never failed to give satisfackshun. Did you want to try sunthin different, stranger?"

"Oh, no. No, I wouldn't want you to go to the trouble of erecting a regular gallows for my benefit. Lumber is pretty scarce this year. I suppose you have a man who knows all about adjusting the noose?"

"Sartinly, sir. Jim Wheeler allus tends to that part of the circus, and I've yit to hear the fust complaint. You needn't hev the least oneasiness about the noose."

"What time today could you pull the performance off?" asked the stranger after a bit.

"Waal, 3 o'clock is our reg'lar hour, but if you want it an hour earlier or later we'll try and accommodate you."

"Three o'clock suits me."

"Then we'll make it 3. That gives us time to hang you, dig the grave and clear up things before supper. Want to write any letters?"

"No, I guess not."

"Just as you feel about that. We hain't askin your name or pryin into your bizness. That hain't our way. Would you like a gravestun put up over yer mortal remains?"

"Would it be asking too much?"

"It wouldn't. We'll do it with the greatest cheerfulness. What name shall we put on the stun?"

"Nothing but Joe."

"All right, sir. It will be, 'Sacred to the mem'ry of Joe, who departed this life on Aug. 18, 1872.' We kin add, 'Of such is the kingdom of heaven,' if you wish."

"No; that will do."

"Anything else you think of, stranger?"

"Nothing else."

He was removed to one of the shanties and placed under guard, and at 3 o'clock the men assembled and he was taken out and duly hanged. Just before the final act Judge Watkins solicitously inquired:

"Stranger, do you want a drink of whisky, a chaw of terbacker or anything else we hev on hand?"

"Thanks, but I'm provided for," was the reply.

"You ain't blamin us?"

"Oh, no."

"Arrangements all to your satisfackshun?"

"Perfectly so."

"Then let 'er go, and don't worry about the gravestun."

A Rebuke.

Their First Quarrel.

A RUSSIAN HEALER.

JOHN CRONSTADT HAS THE POWER OF HEALING.

His Influence Felt Everywhere—Collects Vast Sums from the Rich and Distributes Them With a Lavish Hand Among the Poor.

ONE of the best known names in Russia to-day is that of Father John of Cronstadt; or, in Russian form, Father Ioann Sergieff Kronstadtsky. When the late Emperor Alexander III. lay on his death bed, we read that Father John had been sent for across the whole length of Russia, to administer spiritual consolation, and had been present when none others save the imperial family were admitted. Father John's departure for Moscow to attend the coronation of the young Emperor was chronicled in the Russian press in company with that of royal princes and great officials of the state. And now that a great calamity has saddened the coronation festivities, the cable tells us that Father John of Cronstadt is comforting and blessing the mourners as they seek to find their dead.

Father John is a living illustration of the manner in which a man can rise, in the best sense, from the very lowest to the very highest class of society in a country where most foreigners would believe such a thing to be impossible. His father was a poor semi-ecclesiastical survivor of the church in a small village of the Archangel government, situated even a little further north than Arctic Archangel itself. He was not even a clever boy, according to his own account, until he prayed with tears for enlightenment.

He received it, rose from the bottom to the head of his class, and, what is more important for himself and others, acquired that fervent belief in prayer wherein lies his strength.

The Rev. Father John was ordained to the priesthood 40 years ago last November, and appointed to the church in Cronstadt of which he is now the archpriest. From the day of his appointment he began to treat his poor parishioners of St. Petersburg's seaport town with the tender, winning affection born of his own experience of hardship and poverty. But his chief fame arose from his power in prayer, which, as thousands firmly believe, effects miracles in the way of healing soul and body.

FATHER JOHN.

The Rev. Father John himself lays no claim to any power. He does assert that a half hour in fervent prayer every night will suffice to keep a person spiritually healthy and happy, even when the prayer is forced, in seasons of coldheartedness. Nevertheless, he has been credited with not only cures but the power of prophecy.

The Rev. Father John is in no wise remarkable in appearance, except that his blue eyes are piercing to a degree, and appear to have the power to look into one's very soul and read what is there. He is a simple, straightforward, profoundly devout man, who believes unquestionably in the power of prayer. His firm faith encourages sufferers, inspires the weak of heart and morals, stirs up the rich to give large sums of money by which the poor profit, and which they would not otherwise give at all, in all probability. The Rev. Father John himself derives no advantages from either money or aristocratic friends.

He gives without asking whatever sum he may happen to have in his pocket; or his mode of operation is so nearly that that it may fairly be described in these general terms. The indisputable service which Father John renders is that he rouses sluggish hearts, souls, consciences to action, more or less vigorous; that he puts into the sick the desire and courage to live, which, as any doctor will admit, is generally half the battle. In that sense, he probably does effect many cures, whole or partial.

On another occasion three young men made up their minds to have some fun out of the respected priest, and to deceive him, with the object of ruining his reputation for penetration. One of them went to the Rev. Father John and asked him to come and pray beside his dying friend. The Rev. Father John did not refuse, but he said beforehand: "You are trifling with God." On entering the room he found the second scamp writhing on the bed in apparent agonies, while number three was wailing and lamenting. The Rev. Father John took a good look at the room (where there was no holy picture) and at them; knelt down, crossed himself and said: "Lord, deal with them according to their faith. Amen." Then he quickly left the room. But when the imaginary invalid attempted to rise from the bed he found himself really and seriously ill with a nervous attack. It was only after the jokers had done penance and been well lectured by the Rev. Father John that the sick man recovered.

ally went to the rescue of the fallen man. She drew him clear of the track just as the car dashed past. The rail of the car badly bruised one of the brave young woman's arms. This is not Miss Perez' first act of heroism. When her home was in flames she rescued her sister and grandmother, both of whom were overcome by the smoke.

Girdling the World.

When Shakespeare wrote about putting a girdle around the earth in forty minutes, the idea was as visionary as that of communicating with the stars in the firmament. Not long ago at the Electric Fair, a message was sent from one gallery to the other by way of Vancouver and Tokio, the message arriving in something less than fifty minutes. Of course, this does not run actually around the world, but it demonstrates the possibilities of the electrical current, and shows us that when the new Pacific cable is finished it will require a good deal less than fifty minutes to circumnavigate the globe with an electric message. The future of electricity has wonderful promise, much greater than we are able to realize, especially so in view of the fact that our most eminent electricians frankly amit that they only understand the a-b-c's of it.

Chinaman Weds a White Girl.

An unusual wedding took place at the New England Congregational church of Aurora, Ill. The groom is a Chinaman and the bride a Chicago girl of German parentage, who has been in Aurora since last fall. Ang Ton Wong and Miss Georgie Ehleis were united in matrimony at the close of the evening church service by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Sturtevant. Ang, who is better known in Aurora by his given name, Ah Wong, is a prosperous laundryman who has made his home in that city many years. In connection with his laundry he conducts a small store, selling Chinese specialties. He has espoused the Christian religion and would gladly become a citizen of the United States if he could find a court which would issue him naturalization papers.

EXCURSION DAY.

Sunday Notable for Its Many Outing Parties.

The Wabash Brings 700 People Here and the Grand Rapids Takes 500 to Rome City.

Yesterday was distinctively "excursion day" in and about this city. Those citizens who did not go to Robison park, Rome City or Cincinnati were entertaining at their homes friends from the towns along the line of the Wabash and the Findlay roads, or watched with sympathizing hearts the little groups of bedrabbled, water soaked strangers who all day long plodded aimlessly about the streets in search of amusement.

WABASH EXCURSION.

The Wabash company brought about 725 people into the city yesterday. The train, which consisted of nine coaches and a baggage car, started from Peru and picked up excursionists at almost every station between that city and Fort Wayne. Huntington furnished the biggest delegation, there being 456 tickets sold at that point, while the agent at Peru only reported 60 Wabash did fairly well also, sending up nearly 150 excursionists. The intention was to take the excursionists to Robison park, there to spend the day in the beautiful groves but owing to the disagreeable weather this feature of the excursion was abandoned and the excursionists scattered about the city, those having relatives or friends here hunting them up and spending the day with them Those not so fortunate crowded into the hotels, the Y. M. C. A. reading rooms and other accessible places of shelter, while a few went out to the park and sat in the pavilion, listening to the music of the orchestron. The excursion was a surprise to the management, the crowd being greater than anticipated, and proves that Fort Wayne as an attractive excursion point is equal to any of the cities or pleasure resorts in the state of Indiana. Col. R. G. Thompson, the Wabash district passenger agent, announces that the excursion will be repeated on Sunday, August 9, when efforts will be made to bring 2 000 people here.

THE ROME CITY EXCURSION.

The Fort Wayne outing party and a rain storm, which continued throughout the day, arrived at Rome City simultaneously yesterday morning. The only variations in the weather during the day consisted in the rapidity with which the moisture descended upon the scene. It rained from 10 o'clock in the morning until after the last train pulled out for home in the evening, increasing in volume as the day advanced and forming rivulets and pools of water throughout the parks and in the paths leading to the various buildings, boat landings and fishing places. But, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the greater portion of the excursionists managed to get a good deal of enjoyment out of the trip. Those piscatorially inclined who were provided with macintoshes or umbrellas, fished from boats and bridges, and some of those who were not so provided did likewise. And the fishing was never better than it was yesterday, many fine strings of bass, bluegills and catfish finding their way into the baskets and buckets of the anglers. At 6 o'clock in the evening, when the excursionists began to grow restless, the welcome announcement was made that the train would return in two sections, the first leaving at 6:30 and the second at 8 o'clock. There were ten coaches in the train which took the party to Rome City, and six of them were filled with people and started for Fort Wayne at the early appointed hour, while the remaining four were held until the regular hour of departure. There were no accidents or incidents calculated to mar the pleasure of an excursion other than the inclement weather, and with a few exceptions, all seemed to enjoy the "outing." There were 465 persons in the party.

THE FINDLAY CROWD

Threatening weather kept many Buckeyes at home yesterday, who would have been with us had the sun been shining in the early morning. As it was, the regular Sunday train from Findlay brought in sixty-one passengers, and most of them came from Ottawa and points this side. These excursionists spent the day in sightseeing about the city, much in the same manner as did the Hoosiers from the Wabash valley.

LAKE ERIE AND WESTERN.

The Lake Erie and Western railway's excursion train for Cincinnati left this city at 5 o'clock yesterday morning with less than 100 passengers It was better patronized from towns south of here, however, and went into Cincinnati with eighteen coaches and nearly 1,000 persons. Muncie contributed greatly to the crowd, furnishing fully one-third of the number. Returning, the train left Cincinnati at 7:30 and reached her some time after midnight, being delayed some hours by slippery rails and the heavy load.

THE ELECTRIC EMPLOYES' EXCURSION.

The electric light employes have about completed the program for the entertainment of those who go with them to Rome City on Saturday, July 25 The First Regiment A. O. U. W. band has been hired for the occasion and there will be innumerable races, both on land and water, and other athletic contests. The executive committee of the excursion is composed of Messrs A. E Barnes, Thomas Duncan, C. C. Miller, A. L Hadley, John J. Bauer, C. Strube, J. Chadwick, P. B. Bosworth and D. C. Davis.

LIG INJURED.

John P. Leitz, who is employed in the store room at the electric works, was engaged in handling a small motor Saturday afternoon, when the grab hooks broke and the machine fell. In its descent it broke one of the bones of Mr. Leitz's right leg and bruised and skinned the other limb badly. He was taken to his home on Jones street, in a cab, and a surgeon reduced the fracture and dressed the wound.

BRIEF MENTION.

Electric light employes were paid today.

Henry Knoche, of the Bass blacksmith shop, is sick and off duty.

Class X engine 267 was taken in the Pittsburg shop this morning for repairs.

Supt. G. L. Potter, of the Pennsylvania, went to the Toledo division on business today.

Steps are under way to wind up the receivership of the Norfolk and Western by October 1.

John Gribbins has returned to his duties in the electric works after a week's vacation, spent in fishing.

Blacksmith Eugene LaPoint, of the Erie shops, at Huntington, and his family, were the guests of Mrs. D. D. Williams over Sunday.

Hal Bitzberger, the Grand Rapids fireman, left last Saturday for a ten days' outing in northern Michigan.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton handled in June at the Toledo terminal 2,220 more cars than in June, 1895.

Theodore Dobler is back at the desk in the Pittsburg round house office again, after a few days with friends in Chicago

The Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City earned in the second week of July $45,787 69, an increase over the corresponding week of 1895 of $12,860 84

Mrs George Barter, of Huntington, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Holmes, over Sunday. Mr. Barter is a boilermaker in the employ of the Erie road.

Foreman G. A. Szink, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, is keeping bachelor's hall, his wife and daughter having gone to Harrisburg, Pa, to visit relatives.

Clerk C. L. Daseler, of the Pittsburg machine shop, is enjoying a week's respite and Ambrose Benedict is performing the clerical duties of the department.

James V. Costigan has resumed his clerical duties at the electric works after a vacation of ten days. He visited nearly all the surrounding towns and had a good time.

Z. Hamar, for many years a conductor on the Michigan division of the Big Four, later trainmaster of the Wabash, now has a good position on one of the roads running into Denver, Colo.

Conductor Bassett West, of the Wabash, is the proudest man on the system, for he has been given charge of a newly built caboose, No. 343, and has fixed it up as neat as a modern palace.

William Hannan, who was the victim of a Fourth of July accident, in which he barely escaped the loss of both eyes, was able to resume work at the factory of Rhinesmith & Simonson this morning.

William Leach, of the brass moulding room, Pittsburg shops, is the happy owner of the bicycle formerly owned by George Ryan. On account of poor health Mr. Ryan had to abandon riding a wheel.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago has the roadway for a third track graded between Alleghony and Rochester, and is only waiting for the business depression to pass off before commencing the laying of the rails.

Willie Berdan, secretary and treasurer of the Cooke Locomotive works, and who has been with that company for thirty-one years, has resigned to become secretary of the National Association of Locomotive Builders.

A special train on the Panhandle carrying the Baptist young people to Milwaukee made the run from Pittsburg to Chicago, 508 miles, in twelve hours and fifty minutes, being one of the fastest runs on record between those points.

As a result of the postmaster general's order prohibiting the carrying of unstamped railroad mail in baggage cars, the Chicago Railroad Exchange has been closed. The exchange has acted as a distributing center for mail for fifteen years.

The Pennsylvania has issued a new book of instructions on the Westinghouse air brake, made necessary by certain changes in valves which would improve the air brake and signal system. The new books are smaller than those now carried by trainmen.

The Lake Erie and Western railroad company has made it obligatory on the part of conductors to go through their train on reaching terminal points for the purpose of securing for safe keeping any articles which may be forgotten by the passengers when leaving the coaches.

Frank Stone, the traveling man, has nearly completed a fine house on Liberty street, near the Comparet homestead. He expects to move into the house about September 1. Ed. Davis, engineer at the Standard Wheel works, is also preparing to build in the same addition.

Wabash engine 71, which was bringing No. 5 down from Toledo this morning, gave out at Defiance. The engine which was taking freight train 98 east was detached at Napoleon and sent back to Defiance to complete the run for the disabled engine. No. 5 came in just one hour late.

The weather conditions of the past three days have not been conducive of health and as a consequence the sick list at the Pittsburg shops is of unusual length. Included among the unfortunates are L Linker, Casper Hartong and F. E. Albers. Henry Dannmeyer, who was on the absentee list last week, reported this morning.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago is obliged to run its fastest trains through New Brighton for nearly a mile and a half at a speed limit of ten miles an hour. The company has asked the privilege of fencing the road on both sides, that the speed of trains may be increased The double tracks are in one of the streets of New Brighton the entire distance.

Charles H Doebler, master mechanic of the Wabash railway, went to Wabash Saturday evening, where he was the guest of honor at the banquet tendered him by the engineers of the Michigan division of the Big Four railway, of which road Mr. Doebler was lately master mechanic. A very elaborate menu was prepared and covers were laid for 100 guests. Mr Doebler is a very popular man with his former engineemen, and the banquet was given as a token of their esteem for him.

Capt S K. Miller, of Oil City, Pa, is in the city for medical treatment by Dr. J. W Youngs, for dropsy, resulting from Bright's disease. Captain Miller served as captain during the war in the tenth Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, and his company was the advance skirmish line at Gettysburg July 2, 1863, when the brigade took little Round Top from General Longstreet's TEXANS, under command of General Hood.

THE NEW ABLEGATE.

FALCONIO, WHO MAY SUCCEED SATOLLI, IS AN AMERICAN.

Although He Is an Archbishop in Italy, He Studied and Worked In the United States For Many Years and Became a Citizen.

Archbishop Diomedes Falconio, who will succeed Cardinal Satolli, it is rumored, as the papal delegate at Washington, is an American citizen. Although he is an Italian by birth and has been for many years in charge of an archdiocese in Italy, more than one-third of his life has been passed in America, and it was here that he obtained the greater part of his education.

Archbishop Falconio is 55 years old and a member of the Reformed Order of Franciscans, to which both the pope and Cardinal Satolli belong. His clerical career has been brilliant and his rise a most rapid one. As the papal delegate he would be at the head of Roman Catholic affairs in this country, having authority even over Cardinal Gibbons and serving as the spokesman for the pope when that dignitary had anything to communicate to the church here. He would have power to settle all disputes between archbishops and other church officials and would occupy the elaborate quarters in Washington where Cardinal Satolli now resides. Upon the confirmation of the delegate Satolli will return to Rome, where he will take the red hat and assume the other emblems of his office, which he has not yet done.

Few prelates have taken such rapid strides toward the top as has Archbishop Falconio. He was born in a little town in the province of Abruzzo, Italy, which was in the Franciscan province of St. Bernardine. At an early age he joined the order of St. Francis, and after three or four years of study in the local monastery he went to Rome, where he studied for five years more. While at Rome there was a call from the minister general of the order for mission workers. Among those who responded was Father Diomede, as he was known then, and Father Anacletus, who has reached the head of the order here, and who has been a lifelong friend of the archbishop. The two young men came to this country over 30 years ago, neither of them being able to speak a word of English. They went at once to the Franciscan college of St. Bonaventure in Alleghany, Cattaraugus county, N. Y., where they continued their studies and readily mastered the English language. Father Diomede was ordained a priest and began teaching theology there. At the end of three years he was made president of the institution.

Both he and Father Anacletus became enthusiastic over America, its institutions and government, and both took out naturalization papers at Little Falls, N. Y., becoming citizens and voting at state and national elections.

ARCHBISHOP FALCONIO.

They were both sent as missionary priests to Winstead, Conn. After two years of work there Father Diomede was sent to Harbor Grace, N. F., on a similar errand. For ten years he labored in that bleak country with a good deal of success and then came back to the United States, where for a time he assisted Father Anacletus in slum missionary work in New York city. It was at this time that he applied for permission to return to Italy that he might visit his aged parents, whom he had not seen for 25 years. The request was granted, and he sailed, fully expecting to return in a few months at the latest.

While in Italy he was appointed provincial of the province of the order in St. Bernardine, his native province, and his work was marked with such success that he attracted the favorable notice of the minister general. He had simply applied some of his enterprising American methods to his new duties. He was appointed for a second term, but was again advanced and was unanimously elected procurator general of a branch of the order known as the reformed Franciscans.

He had served but three years in his new office when he was appointed by the pope as bishop of Lacedogna, and in October last he was still further honored by being put at the head of two united archdioceses, with the title of archbishop of Acerenza and Matera, Italy. The office is not a titular one merely, but involves the direction of affairs in the two dioceses as well as the administration of the diocese of Lacedogna. On account of these recent honors it was thought by some, when it was announced that the archbishop would succeed Satolli as papal delegate, that another advancement would not so soon follow, but this is not a necessary conclusion.

Archbishop Falconio's rapid rise is undoubtedly due largely to his remarkable administrative abilities. He is a tireless worker and an active organizer. His friends say that he seems to have a genius for bringing order out of disrupted and disintegrated dioceses, and that he would be a particularly effective man for the post of ablegate.

Father Anacletus, who was his intimate friend for years, says that the archbishop is a man of broad views, of gentle nature, affable and courteous manners, and one who is thoroughly in love with America. He will not have to be accompanied by an interpreter, as was Cardinal Satolli, for he speaks English as fluently and with as much eloquence as he does Italian. It is denied that the regular clergy in the Catholic church of this country will protest against the appointment on the ground that a secular priest, as the members of the monastic orders are called, should not be set over the regular clergy. There always have been some slight differences between the two branches, but it is doubtful if the American archbishops would go to the length of objecting to the person whom the pope might see fit to appoint as his personal representative.

HOT WEATHER DYSPEPSIA.

Thousands Suffer From It at This Season of the Year.

Hot weather dyspepsia may be recognized by the following symptoms: Depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, loss of flesh and appetite, no desire for food, bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, wind in stomach and bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness, weariness, costiveness, headache, palpitation, heartburn. It is a mistake to treat such troubles with "tonics," "blood purifiers," "cathartics," "pills," because the whole trouble is in the stomach. It is indigestion or dyspepsia and nothing else.

All these symptoms rapidly disappear when the stomach is relieved, strengthened, and cleansed by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They should be taken after meals and a few carried in the pocket to be used whenever any pain or distress is felt in the stomach. They are prepared only for stomach troubles.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by such physicians as Dr. Harlandson, Dr. Jennison, and Dr. Mayer, because they contain the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which when taken into the stomach cause the prompt digestion of the food before it has time to ferment and sour, which is the cause of the mischief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are pleasant to take and unequaled for invalids, children and every person afflicted with imperfect digestion. It is safe to say they will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Nearly all the druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents. A book on stomach troubles and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Detective John T. Norris, who has gained much notoriety, has his name in the papers again. At Columbus, Ohio, he is showing some detective camera pictures which he took of legislators in questionable resorts, which he is using to prevent the repeal of the Winn liquor law. Norris is well known in this city.

It was five weeks ago yesterday that W. F. Geller, the well known Broadway confectioner and baker, met with the accident in which he broke a leg. Although getting along very nicely, he is still unable to leave his bed at all. It will be two weeks yet before he will be able to sit up. His physician says he will not be lame when he gets well.

The Pericleans of this city, consisting of Fort Wayne and Summit temples, and their friends, will give a social picnic at Robison park next Wednesday afternoon and evening. The ladies will go out at 2 o'clock p. m. from the corner of Main and Calhoun street, well provided with lunch, and the gentlemen will go at 7 p. m. A good time is assured.

To-day application was made to the faculty of the Fort Wayne College of Medicine by T. J. Schweiss, of Findlay, Ohio, for a certificate showing that he was entitled to practice medicine. He claimed to have received a diploma of Dr. Sunrise, the Indian doctor, in this city, a few years ago, but had lost it. Dr. Stemen informed the man that such a diploma was worthless, and no such a certificate as that asked for could be issued

A dastardly attempt at assault was made at 8:30 o'clock last evening at the first alley west of Lafayette street on East Creighton avenue. The victim was a young married lady, who was seized about the neck as she was passing that point, by a man who tried to stifle her cries by putting his hand over her mouth. The lady carried an umbrella and, tearing herself from the grasp of the brute, she pounded him over the head until he turned and ran away as fast as possible. She describes her assailant as a beardless youth of [illegible] years.

GIRL CAUSES TWO DEATHS.

Archibald Askew Shoots Arthur Callahan and Then Kills Himself.

QUINCY, Ill., July 20.—Archibald Askew shot Arthur Callahan three times and then killed himself at Kingston, south of this city, Saturday night. Askew's daughter was stopping at Callahan's house and there was a quarrel over the way she had been treated. Askew called at Callahan's house and abused the girl. When Callahan remonstrated Askew drew a revolver and shot three times, one of the bullets going through Callahan's head. Then he sat down on the porch and asked Callahan's forgiveness. When this was denied Askew put the pistol to his head and blew out his own brains.

Hard Times Continue.

But we Find a Way to keep Things Moving.

In June of this year our sales exceeded the same month of 1895 by 45 per cent., and the same month of 1894 by 72 1-2 per cent.

We doubt if there are a dozen firms in the West which can show such an extraordinary increase in sales under such a discouraging condition of retail trade.

But the recent enlargement of our already very extensive salesrooms—our increase in stock, especially in fine and very fine goods and our cut in prices to about one half the profits of former times, has given us a patronage altogether beyond anything we have ever enjoyed.

"Good Times Are Coming,"

And when they arrive we propose to be occupying a front seat in the business "Band Wagon."

THE POPULISTS

Are Gathering at St. Louis.

All the Leading Men Now Present

And Busy Hobnobbing in the Interest of Party.

A Merry Downpour of Rain Dampens Rousing and Dampens Enthusiasm.

St. Louis, July 20.—The rain poured down in steady sheets today and served to dampen the ardor of the arriving populists and silverites. The gay bunting which decorated the entrance to the Lindell, the populist headquarters, sagged and flagged and the leaders kept closely huddled within the walls. Those who were quartered at other hotels were slow in venturing forth to the respective meeting places. Only the sergeant at arms and the secretaries were active early, arranging the final details as to decorations and seats.

The populists are making extensive preparations for the populist press, which they expect here in force. They claim over 2,000 reform papers in various parts of the country and most of these papers, they believe, will be represented.

Some of its representatives held an informal conference late last night. A strong sentiment against an equivocal endorsement of the Chicago ticket, which might result in the complete annihilation of the populistic organization, prevailed. The general feeling was that the silver forces should be united but only in a way that would preserve their organization.

While most of them seemed disposed to unite through some plan on Bryan, they were bitterly opposed to Sewall and some were strongly of the opinion that a separate platform should be adopted which will include demands for many additional reforms.

A Bolt Probable.

The belief continues to be generally prevalent that a bolt is among the strong probabilities of the populist convention, whatever the course decided upon by the majority.

The delegates are constantly arriving now, and the larger the crowd becomes, the more evident is the intensity of feeling over the one question at issue. This question is whether to endorse Bryan and Sewall or to nominate an independent ticket.

In a general way the contest is between the north and the south. The western and northern delegate calls himself a populist and the southern delegate also refers to himself as a populist. Many of the delegates express the opinion that they may at no distant day be separate parties.

The northern men, as a class, contend that in the endorsement of Bryan lies the only hope of making the influence of the party felt or of achieving practical results, while the southern men, remembering their many contests with the democrats of their section, maintain that such a course is utterly suicidal. The feeling is the same whether among leaders, or the rank and file, the only difference being that the former discuss the issue in committee rooms and the latter in the hotel corridors. Both classes are equally earnest and both declare that there is but one course open.

The crowds are not large, but the men are all very evidently greatly in earnest, and any two of opposing views, who engage in a controversy, have no difficulty in attracting a crowd, any number of which is only too glad to take up the thread of the discourse of his champion. They are all debaters, and all well informed in the issues at stake.

The Bryan followers talk split more openly than their opponents. They are perfecting a thorough organization and mean to make a strenuous effort to secure the endorsement of the democratic nominee. They do not publicly admit that there is any possibility that they will not be able to control the convention, but privately many of them say that if they are not in the majority, and if a separate ticket is nominated they will walk out of the convention and appeal to the people to the support of Bryan and Sewall. The other crowd are more reticient, but the feeling is none the less intense.

Distinguished Arrivals.

The Nebraska delegation, with United Statet Senator Allen at its head, arrived today, making a visible augmentation of the Bryan forces. The members of the delegation say that the populist party of the state is solid for Bryan, and express confidence in his endorsement.

"Why should not we endorse Bryan?" said Senator Allen, asking a question in reply to one. "It is good policy—the wise and proper thing to do. Mr. Bryan represents three, if not more of the important populist doctrines: The free and unlimited coinage of silver, the income tax and a revenue tariff. Our endorsement of Bryan gives reasonable hope of success at the polls. With our endorsement he will win. If we fail to endorse him the logical effect will be the same as if we had endorsed McKinley. Hence the choice is between McKinley and gold and an abnormally high tariff, and Bryan with free silver, a tariff for revenue, the income tax and other reforms."

"What is the prospect of his endorsement?" was asked. "I think it good," was the reply. "There is a good deal of noisy demonstration in the hotel corridors in opposition, but it amounts to nothing.

The senator expressed the opinion that whether Bryan was endorsed or not, the populist convention would promulgate a platform of its own.

Lawrence J. McFarlin, of New York, one of the general secretaries of the national populist committee, arrived today. He expressed the opinion that Bryan would be nominated, though not endorsed, and that an arrangement would be reached for an equitable division of electors. He thinks the Omaha platform will be reaffirmed with the addition of a plank endorsing the initiative and referendum system.

J. E. Anderson and Dr. Evans, two delegates from Iowa, also came in. They are for Bryan under certain conditions, but are not yet prepared to wholly commit themselves.

Senator Jones for Bryan.

Senator Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the democratic national committee, ate early breakfast at the Planters, this morning, with Governor Stone and at 9 o'clock repaired to his parlor to receive callers. Scores of cards were in his room when he got back to it, and he began immediately to have his visitors ushered in. Senator Stewart, of Nevada, was one of the first admitted and close on the heels of the Nevadan followed Col. Thomas Patterson, the populist leader of Colorado. At 10 o'clock the prospects were that Senator Jones would be engaged all day in private conference with populistic leaders. He said:

"I hope the populist convention will endorse Bryan and Sewall and since I arrived here, I have received a good deal of encouragement of that hope. It occurs to me that everybody who believes in the free coinage of silver can with perfect good grace and confidence vote for our nominees and thus assure the restoration of bimetallism at the earliest possible date."

Nebraska's Statement.

Some of the members of the Nebraska delegation, among them Senator Allen, today prepared the following statement: "The Nebraska delegation is a unit for Bryan. They know him well. His life has been a fulfillment rather than a mere promise. We know his high character and eminent fitness for the office of president. He is our neighbor and we are not deceived in him. If elected he will be the greatest man that has occupied the white house since the days of Lincoln, and in his broad and genuine sympathy for the masses he more nearly resembles Mr. Lincoln than any public man we can recall. The nomination of a third ticket would be the exact equivalent of a genuine endorsement of McKinley, the single gold standard, an abominable high tariff tax, continued gold bond issues, a perpetual public debt, cruel and heartless corporation for the next four years and possibly for all time. If elected president Mr. Bryan will know no democrat, no populist, no republican. There will be no stepchildren in his political family. All who have been with the united reform forces in the fight will be on an equal footing. He will be the people's candidate. Nebraska is for Bryan."

This enthusiastic statement coming from the populists of Bryan's own state attracted the most attention. The Nebraska delegation is thoroughly organized and is doing missionary work among the "middle of the road" populists. "We want to show them," said Senator Allen, "where the middle of the road is."

Jerry Simpson's Views.

Ex-Congressman Jerry Simpson, who is a very shrewd observer, is strongly of the opinion that Bryan and Sewall will be endorsed. "The issue is paramount," said he, "and men dare not play politics at such a time as this. If this convention should refuse to endorse Bryan, the populist party would not contain a corporals guard in November. Honest endorsement is the only salvation of the party. So far as Kansas is concerned, it matters not what this convention does, we will endorse Bryan and vote for silver."

George W. Brewster, of Falls City, Neb., who is the populist candidate for congress, is here urgently advocating Bryan's nomination, not endorsement. "Endorsement," said he, "implies acceptance of the democratic platform. We should adopt our own platform and nominate Bryan. That would unite the democrats and populists on the silver issue, but still maintain our organization as a seperate entirety. Our platform, I think, will practically be a reiteration of the Omaha platform with a few changes and an additional plank or two, the most important of which is the initiative and referendum declaration."

Mr. Brewster says that the demand for fusion or a separate ticket and platform comes from the south, where the populists have been persecuted, but he believes as the western delegates arrive and bring their influence to bear, the south will "listen to reason."

Ladies in the Convention.

There will be three, if not more, lady delegates in the populists' convention. Two of these three will be from New York and one from Pennsylvania. The committee of ladies which is giving its attention to securing the adoption of a female suffrage plank in the platform are counting upon the zealous assistance of these lady delegates. Some of the members of this committee, headed by Mrs. Victoria Conkling Whitney and Miss Ella E. Buie, were at the Lindell early today to make arrangements for a hearing before the committee on resolutions. They were early assured of the hearty co operation of Senator Peffer and Hon. J. B. Weaver and are very hopeful of receiving an unequivocal endorsement of equal suffrage. They will ask to have a plank inserted providing "that congress shall submit to the legislatures of the several states a proposition to so amend the federal constitution as to provide that the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

Delegate Wardell, of California, and his wife, are actively co operating in this work. They bring a message from Miss Susan B. Anthony, expressing her hope that the populists will take a positive stand on the question.

THE COURTS.

Two Young Fishermen Accused of Larceny.

The Geary Case on Trial—County Commissioners Considering Liquor Licenses.

Gaylord Watson and Gill McNabb, two young men of Cedarville, had a hearing before Justice Huser this morning and were bound over to court in the sum of $500 each to answer to the charge of larceny preferred against them. The defendants were arrested by Officers Maurice and George Harrod.

The young fellows, it seems, were out on a fishing expedition, but in order to provide an outfit for their camping had gone to the house of Liddy Graff and others and stolen a regular batch of articles; table cloths, bed clothes, kettles, cooking utensils, hams, etc. The act took place on the 12th of July.

The first batch of cases against Geary, the saloonkeeper, for conducting a saloon near Robison park, is on trial this afternoon before Justice Bullerman. The affidavits are for Sunday violations, selling at unlawful hours and in an unlawfully manner. They are prosecuted by the managers of the street car company. The defendants' attorneys are Judge W. G. Colerick and Will Colerick.

The county commissioners are engaged in considering applications for liquor licenses. There are no particular contests, but there are some questions concerning other business or amusements which the applicants want to conduct in connection with liquor selling. Mr. S. L. Morris is the board's legal adviser, and they are not likely to make any mistakes in their conclusions.

PLATT J. WISE.

The Efficient Chief Deputy of the Sheriff Eighty-One Years Old.

Mr. Platt J. Wise, the chief deputy of Sheriff Clausemier, is eighty-one years old today and is being congratulated by those of his friends who are aware of the fact that this is the anniversary of his birth.

Mr. Wise grows old gracefully and still retains much of the vigor of his former days. His mind is wonderfully clear and he is correct in all his business methods. He is rich in reminiscences of the past and it is always a pleasure to talk to him. Mr. Wise has been in the sheriff's office for years and is a favorite with everybody.

USED AN AX.

Murderous Deed of Etta Robins at Huntington.

A. J. Call and Daughter Killed and Other Children Horribly Slashed by the Demon.

Huntington, W. Va., July 20.—A. J. Call and Nettie Call, his daughter, were killed in a shanty boat, six miles east of here this morning. Lollie Call will also die and several small children are at the point of death.

Etta Robins is in jail accused of the murder of all of them, using as a weapon a double bit ax.

Call and daughter, who are dead, have their heads severed and all the children are slashed in a horrible manner.

One woman leaped into the river and saved her life.

The greatest of excitement prevails No cause is assigned for the deed.

POOL ROOMS WILL REOPEN.

Missouri Law, Under Which They Closed, Declared Unconstitutional.

Kansas City, July 20.—Under a decision made by Judge Wofford, of the criminal court, gambling on horse races outside of the state may be resumed in Kansas City. By virtue of this decision pool rooms which were closed in 1891, when the Stone anti-pool room law went into effect, will speedily reopen.

Judge Wofford held that the law which made it a felony to bet or accept bets on a race, except on a course where the race is run, is unconstitutional because it was special legislation which did not bear equally on all citizens. Such special legislation is prohibited by the state constitution. The decision was made in the cases of L. M. Elitor, Sam Lewis and Charles Oldham, who was arrested for keeping a pool room.

Lawyers say it is the first time the constitutionality of the law has been passed on in this state and that the effect of Judge Wofford's decision is to throw down the bars to all people who wish to sell pools on horse races, and that many pool rooms will be opened as a result of it.

CLEVELAND'S CLEMENCY

Given to Three Men Who Had Been Sentenced to Death.

Washington, July 20.—The president has commuted to imprisonment for life the death sentences imposed upon three Texans, John C. Ball, Tom Davis and Taylor Hickman. They were to be hanged September 8th next. In the case of Ball, the president says that while he has been twice convicted of murder, the judge and district attorney both urge the commutation on account of the youthful convict, and for other cogent reasons. Davis and Hickman are full blooded Indian boys, of thirteen and fourteen years respectively, without any appreciation of the enormity of the brutal and cold blooded homicide committed by them, and in their cases also the judge and district attorney strongly urged the commutation.

BOON TO WEARY BOARDERS.

Ohio Man Has an Invention for Correcting False Notes of a Piano.

Cincinnati, O., July 19.—Dr. H. A. Hageman of this city has applied for a patent on an invention which promises to create a sensation among musicians. It is a mechanism to be applied to the piano for the purpose of correcting the false tones of that instrument, which have hitherto been regarded as a necessary evil. The invention makes the piano as true as the violin and it accomplishes the result by a sort of mechanical fingering similar to the human fingering on the violin. Competent musicians say the problem has been successfully solved. The inventor is a half brother of the late Professor Swing, of Chicago.

DEAD IN THE RUINS.

Three Bodies are Found in the Car Barn Fire.

Chicago, July 20.—Three men were killed and it is feared that two more perished in the fire Saturday evening which destroyed the Cottage Grove avenue barn of the Chicago City Railway company. The dead are: Frank Crosby, towboy, 104 Thirty-ninth street; William L. Elwell, gripman, 4018 Cottage Grove avenue; Patrick Martin, conductor, 5458 Ingleside avenue. The missing are: Bertram Fulford, 92 Thirty-ninth street, blacksmith; last seen attempting to rescue frightened horses from the car stables; unidentified man, soen to fall through the roof of the hay barn.

Cornelius Vanderbilt.

New York, July 20.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, according to his physicians, passed a comfortable night. Dr. McLean left the residence at 6:45 o'clock this morning. He said that while he had been in the house all night, he had not found it necessary to remain all the time at the bedside of the patient. Mr. Vanderbilt, he said, had slept soundly from 11 o'clock last night until 5 o'clock this morning.

Against Free Coinage.

San Francisco, Cal., July 20.—The California socialist labor convention has adopted a platform protesting against the free coinage of silver on the ground that such action would be class legislation, inasmuch as, it alleges, it would benefit the debtor class at the expense of capitalists. The platform declares that free silver would not benefit laboring men as wage earners and are not, as a rule, debtors.

The republican headquarters have been established over the Gazette office, and E. L. Craw, the secretary, is

THEY WANT BRYAN.

The Populists Desire Him as Their Candidate.

Telegram Sent to the Democratic Nominee by the California Delegation En Route to St. Louis.

Kansas City, Mo., July 20.—While on route to the national populist convention the California delegation, thirty-nine strong, last night issued an open letter to the democratic presidential nominee, William J. Bryan, urging him to go before the country as the nominee of the populist party. The letter was composed and dispatched while the delegation was waiting for its train to St. Louis, Dr. G. W. Daywalt, of San Francisco, being chosen secretary and instructed to write it. The letter says in part:

"If you will accept the nomination of the people's party, declaring yourself a populist, you will become a leader to whom will rush every reformer—be he silverite, democrat or republican—and not only be elected yourself, but also elect the congress, the law making power. This is the opportunity of your life, if taken advantage of, and will like Lincoln with the republicans, send your name down to history as a savior of your country by means of populism. If you do not do it, we must, in defense of our principles, put another nominee in the field. Can you thus be elected?"

DR. JAMESON.

Hearing of His Case in the London Courts.

London, July 20.—The first trial at bar since the famous Tichborne claimant case was begun today when Dr. Jameson, Major Sir John Willoughby, Col. R. Grav, Col. H. F. White, Major R. White and Henry F. Coventry were arraigned before Lord Chief Justice Russell, Baron Pollock and Mr. Justice Hawkins. The charge against the defendants is violation of the neutrality laws by invading the territory of the South African republic. Most of the leading members of the bar of Great Britain have been engaged either for the prosecution or for the defense.

Long before the hour had arrived for the beginning of the trial every nook and corner in the court room allotted to spectators was thronged. There were many ladies among those present Sir Edward Clarke, for the defendants, made a motion to quash the indictment on the ground that it was indefinite in its allegations and that it had not been proven that the foreign enlistment act had been proclaimed when the offense alleged had taken place. Sir Richard Webster, Q. C., the attorney general, replied on behalf of the government. When the attorney general had closed his argument the court adjourned until tomorrow.

REVELS IN CONVENTIONS.

Five of Them Will Give Performances This Week.

St. Louis, Mo., July 20.—Five conventions will be held in St. Louis this week, namely: Populists, silver, direct legislation, co-operative and reform press association. E. V. Debs will address the direct legislation convention. Among those who will read papers at the co operative convention will be Editor A. S. Edwards, of the Nation; Editor B. O. Flower, of the Arena, and Edward Bellamy, author of "Looking Backward."

DROWNED IN NAGOWICA LAKE.

Walter Nunnemacher Meets Death While Fishing.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 19.—Walter Nunnemacher, son of the late Rudolph Nunnemacher, was drowned while fishing in Nagowica lake. The body was recovered and brought to this city last night.

Cleveland's Centennial.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 20.—Notwithstanding the threatening weather and occasional showers, many thousands of persons gathered early today around the great arch, upon which the finishing touches are now being placed, in the center of Monumental square, in commemoration of the one hundreth anniversary of the founding of the city of Cleveland. The centennial celebration proper began today, and every incoming train brought big crowds of visitors to witness the festivities which will be continued for a month.

Cotton Market.

New York, July 20.—The cotton market opened fairly active and steady, with sales of 6,300 bales on the first call, which indicated a decline of two points on August, with later months one to two points above Saturday's closing figures. The early English cables were better on account of improved trade conditions in Great Britain. The Liverpool holders were inclined to ask higher prices owing to the small stock on hand.

Arranged a Match.

London, July 20.—Tom Sullivan, who is agent for James Stanbury, the champion sculler of Australia, in the negotiations for a match with Jacob Gaudaur, of Canada, says that a cable dispatch will be sent today, accepting Gaudaur's counter proposition to row for 250 pounds. It is proposed to row the race on the Thames river early in September. Gaudaur will be allowed 25 pounds for expenses.

Colored Women Meet.

Washington, July 20.—Another convention of the colored women, whose aims are the elevation of their race began in this city today. This body is the National Confederation of Colored Women, and its meetings are held at the Nineteenth street Baptist church. It is said by the officers that this body

AWAY FROM HOME.

Death of Mrs. W. H. Dailey at Andrews.

Where She Was Visiting Her Parents —Brother of Mrs. Kaiser, of This City.

Yesterday morning at 4 o'clock, at Andrews, in this state, occurred the death of Mrs. Anna Amelia Dailey, wife of William H. Dailey, who resides at 37 Bass street, in this city.

About three months ago Mrs. Dailey, with her children, went to Andrews to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Shreves, who live at that place. Nine weeks ago she was taken sick with heart disease, and continued to grow worse until her death.

The deceased was thirty years old, and surviving her is her husband and two children, aged respectively six and three years. Mr. Dailey was formerly an engineer on the Wabash road in this city, but for sometime past has been engineer on the Grand Trunk road in Michigan, with a run from Battle Creek to Port Huron.

Mrs. Dailey was born at Niagara Falls, in Ontario, on December 7th, 1866, and with her parents came to this city twenty years ago. She was married nine years ago to Mr. Dailey. She was a member of the United Brethren church of this city, and was loved and esteemed by a large circle of friends for her many traits of Christian character.

The remains of the deceased will arrive from Andrews, over the Wabash, tomorrow at 12 o'clock and taken to the United Brethren church where, at 12:30 o'clock, the funeral services will be held. The funeral sermon will be preached by Rev. J. P. Stewart, of Wellsville, Ohio, one of the former pastors of Mrs. Dailey. The interment will be at Lindenwood.

Anna, the wife of John Kaiser, died at her home, No. 12 Force street, this morning. The deceased was born in Switzerland and was forty-two years old.

THOSE NEW BATS.

Billy Meyer Corrects an Irregularity in the Home Club.

Fort Wayne in the Ascendancy Again —Won at Washington Last Saturday.

Fort Wayne is getting up steam again now that Manager Billy Meyer has bought the boys some new bats, and there is evidence forthcoming to show that they are going to parallel their record of the first part of the season. At Washington, last Saturday, the Fort Waynes won by good batting. The score was:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	—	R.
Fort Wayne....	0	2	0	5	0	1	2	2	*	—	12
Washington....	0	3	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	—	9

Earned runs—Fort Wayne, 2; Washington, 1. Two base hits—Tebeau, Knell, O'Rourke, Ritz, Kuhn. Stolen bases—Tebeau, Knell, Ritz, Cargo, Kuhn, Mitchell. First base on balls—Off Carrick, 3; off Sowdere, 5; off Beadle, 3. Hit by pitched ball—By Sowders, 1. Struck out—By Carrick, 2; Sowders, 2, Beadle, 1. Left on bases—Fort Wayne, 7; Washington, 6 Wild pitches—Carrick, 1. Umpire—Christy. Time of game—2:30.

Other Inter State Games.

Youngstown, Ohio, July 20.—Saturday's game was the best of the season. Youngstown won by better base running and sharp fielding. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.
Youngstown....	0	0	3	1	0	0	0	1	—	5

Hits—Youngstown, 5; Saginaw, 11. Errors—Youngstown, 4; Saginaw, 2 Batteries—Jordan and Zinran; Miller and Northwang. Umpire—Hogan.

New Castle, Pa., July 20.—New Castle took the third game of the series from Jackson Saturday by superior batting The visitors were unable to connect with Hickman's delivery, and the two runs made by them were a base on balls and two hits. Jackson had five and New Castle two double plays of the most exciting nature. Sullivan's home run was the feature in a batting way. The game was a beautiful one. Score.

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.
New Castle....	0	0	2	1	0	0	0	0	—	4

Base hits—New Castle, 11; Jackson, 6. Errors—New Castle, 1; Jackson, 2 Batteries—Hickman and Donivan; Flaherty and Myers.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 20.—Toledo took the third and decisive game of the series with the Nailers Saturday. Coyle was in elegant form. Up in the fifth inning he had been hit safely but five times. In the succeeding innings the Nailers were retired in one, two, three order without a chance to score. Campbell started off well but in the latter innings he was hit hard, and this, with the loose fielding of the Wheelings, allowed the visitors to pile up a big lead. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.
Toledo.....	0	0	0	0	4	0	2	4	*	—	10
Wheeling.....	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	—	2

Hits—Wheeling, 11. Toledo, 9. Errors—Wheeling, 5; Toledo, 11. Batteries—Coyle and Arthur; Campbell and Shaw.

SUNDAY SINNERS.

An Array of Violators at Police Court.

Acting Mayor Bullerman's Biggest Court—Fines and Sentences.

Saturday night and Sunday yielded an unusual crop of sinners. They came one by one until the prospect became dubious for taking care of so many at one time in the station quarters.

This morning when Acting Mayor Bullerman arrived in the court where justice is meted out to unfortunate transgressors, he had to adjust his gold rimmed eyeglasses several times before he could fully take in the situation.

The first name called was Frederick Rix. The defendant appeared not but his forfeit of $11 50 was jingled on the mayor's desk. The charge against Rix was drunkenness and he was arrested by Officer White.

George Schmidt made his first appearance before his honor this morning on the charge of intoxication. George was quite surprised at his surroundings, as it was his first appearance before a court of law. In view of his promise to sin no more his sentence was suspended. Officer Fassino arrested Schmidt Sunday.

Amy Sauers and a young fellow named H. Dawson were found in most uncompromising circumstances at an early hour Sunday morning in an alley between Baker and Chicago streets. This unchaste and troublesome girl had led the officers a merry chase the evening previous, therefore Officers Fassino and Sharp act out earnestly to take her in, which they did so effectually that Amy will be able to do fancy work over in Sheriff Clausmeier's house of refuge for some time to come. Her fine was $5 and costs. Young Dawson was interceded for by friends, who represented that his father was already in jail and that he was the mainstay of the family. His sentence was suspended pending good behavior, and he was told to go to work. He left the court room with an apparent determination to do this.

It was Charles Wessner, though, who caused a broad smile to light up the the features of the court. Wessner recently came to this country from Germany and besides a trunk he brought with him a rich and resonant accent that would drive a Castle Garden "bobby" crazy. Humane Officer Schlaudroff was passing along Harmer street, Sunday, when he found Wessner sitting on his ancient trunk. He had struggled for the previous eight hours to find the Bass foundry. He knew that if he could only get as far as the foundry, fate would, by some strange miracle, see him through to his destination. He had been drinking a few schooners of lager to buoy him up and as he drank, the trunk got heavier and heavier until it threatened to fall and crush him through the sidewalk. For humanity's sake Officer Schlaudroff took him to the police station to sober up. He was sent to jail.

George Weeks, for trying to board a moving Nickel Plate train, was fined $1 and costs. He went to jail. Officer Dickson made the arrest.

Lewis Snyder pleaded not guilty to drunkenness, but here Officer Dassler could not agree with him. Mrs. Snyder appeared in court and stated that her husband was "not exactly drunk, but couldn't walk straight." Inasmuch as Snyder has been heard of before in police circles, $5 and costs was the figure put upon his offense. Snyder paid his fine, part in money and the other part by putting up his watch, and is now a free man.

VERY SMOOTH.

F. C. Miller Collects Another Man's Money.

Nicoll Lesseno Has a Tale of Woe to Relate—Pastes After an Offender.

Last week Nicoll Lesseno, an Italian dealer in fruit, who carries on a business on Calhoun street, near Brackenridge, employed a man named F. C. Miller to go out on the road to sell fruit. Miller proved to be an energetic salesman and later developments indicate that he is a good collector as well. At Kendallville, Auburn and Angola merchants bought liberally of Lesseno's fruit. Miller in some manner secured the release of goods from the freight houses at these points and personally attended to the delivery of same. He also assumed the authority of collecting for these consignments, succeeding so well that Nicoll Lesseno will probably have to go deep down into his sock to make up for the loss. In one instance Miller was paid with a check, which he endorsed and presented to the Farmers bank at Auburn for payment. He got the money. Attorney Albert E Thomas has been employed to bring suit against the bank to recover the amount of the check and also to investigate the case and start the officers on Miller's trail.

The man, Miller, is about thirty years old and a smooth talker, and came to the city only a few days previous to going to work for Lesseno

J. B. SHOAFF HURT

Dragged on the Street by Overturned Buggy.

A Child of Contractor John Snell Kicked by a Horse—Other Accidents.

An exciting accident, in which Jas. B. Shoaff, the well known horse man, was an involuntary actor, attracted a large crowd in the court house square this morning. Mr. Shoaff was driving a spirited, though gentle, horse around the corner of Calhoun and Main streets when two wheels of the buggy caught in the street railway switch, overturning the vehicle and throwing Mr. Shoaff to the ground. The horse, unrestrained, dashed away with the buggy at its heels, and Mr. Shoaff, whose lines tangled about him, was dragged a short distance before the horse could be stopped. When picked up the injured man was in a dazed and helpless condition. He was conveyed to his home, at 436 West Main street, where an examination of his injuries resulted in finding several ugly cuts about the head, but fortunately no broken bones. Mr. Shoaff will be around again in a few days.

Kicked by a Horse.

A fifteen months old child of Contractor John Suelzor, of 420 South Hanna street, while playing in the barn Sunday, was kicked on the head by a horse and rendered unconscious by the blow. Strangely enough the little one's skull was not fractured but an ugly scalp wound was inflicted which may terminate seriously if inflammation sets in. Drs. Schilling and Morgan attended.

Weeds in her Foot.

Mrs. Collins, wife of Policeman Collins, stepped on a needle and Dr. Heaton was only partially successful in his efforts to extract it, as a piece of the steel point cannot be found.

Thumb Cut.

Joseph Mather, an employe in the stereotyping department of the Newspaper Union, had the thumb of his right hand mangled in the machinery today. Dr. Heaton will try to save the injured member.

FLOODED CELLARS.

Great Damage Done by Sunday's Rain Storm.

Lasselle Street Sewer Don't Carry Away Water Fast Enough—Goods Lost in the Flood.

That deluge which swept down upon our city and stayed with such determination all day Sunday must have been the one which originated Saturday night in Nebraska and dampened the ardor of the enthusiastic democrats who assembled at Lincoln to pay homage to their free silver hero and fellow townman, William J. Bryan.

The storm was most unwelcome. The farmer did not need it, the respectable citizen was bitterly opposed to a "wet Sunday" and in fact it was a disappointing state of affairs all around. Excursionists going out of the city and coming in, were out for pleasure, but few found it.

Worst of all, this unprecedented rain of '96 flooded cellars, choked up sewers, converted roadways into lakes and did much damage that will take a long time to repair.

On Lasselle street a great pond of water stood between Lafayette and Hanna streets, the three foot sewer there being incapable of carrying off the water fast enough. Many cellars in that neighborhood were flooded with from two to four feet of water, causing great damage to goods.

The water stood four feet in the cellars under the stores of Philip Graf and P. A. Ollentoch, on Lafayette street, and in the cellars in the immediate neighborhood.

The houses of William Reman, at 52 and 54 Hamilton street, were flooded and contents destroyed.

Many other cases of serious loss are reported, showing that yesterday's rain storm caused the biggest flood known in years.

Oil at Spencerville.

Spencerville, Ohio, July 18, 1896.

Editor Sentinel:

The recent drop in the price of oil has brought the entire business to a standstill in this field.

Our heaviest operators, such as Beltman, Watson & Bernheimer, H. S. Smith & Co. and Maire Bros., have closed down entirely for the present.

A few wild catters are still at work in the Elgin and Van Wert county fields and some good wells are being found; however, just enough drilling will be done to hold the territory.

J. R. Welch & Co. landed another big 200 barrel well near Celina, Ohio, a few days ago in condemned territory. This will set things going anew in that locality again.

Ramsey Bros. have left this field and are now trying their fortunes in the Van Buren, Ind., field.

Jamieson Bros. have opened up a large field of paying territory to the northeast of the city, but will not drill any more wells at present.

The general feeling among the producers is that in the near future oil will again go up to paying prices, the monotony of the present

THE all-day rain yesterday interfered with a good many plans.

MAYOR SCHERER is giving us a ridiculously poor enforcement of the Sunday laws for a man who was elected on the personal pledge that he would enforce all the laws, with an emphasis on the "all."

THE Wabash Daily Times has changed from an evening to a morning paper.

FORT WAYNE is enjoying a pretty good sized residence building boom this summer.

THE populist convention, held at St. Louis, will claim attention in the political field this week.

MANY of our Fort Wayne people are now out of the city on their summer vacations and THE SENTINEL follows them and gives the home news.

NOT since the days of the political campaigns following the close of the war have politics run at such a high tide in this city as now. The discussion of the silver question seems to be indulged in by everybody, and it is a common sight to see crowds on the street gathered around excited debaters.

TEXAS is a wholesome democracy in Mr. Bryan which the people like. He prefers the regular railroad trains to a "special," and when on his ovation trip from Chicago to his home, insisted on taking his meals in the general dining room of the hotel. This is not affectation in Mr. Bryan. It can be said for him that he is a man of the people.

THE executive committee of the Indiana liquor league held a meeting at Indianapolis this week to canvass the situation and receive reports from members. According to reports submitted a number of the candidates of both parties nominated for the senate and house of representatives are favorable to the repeal of some parts of the Nicholson law and it was recommended that the league continue to work quietly in the direction of securing pledges and not enter upon an active canvass to control nominations. It developed in the meeting that the saloonmen who represented cities in which the law is not enforced are not in favor of any fight against, saying that it is a dead letter in their cities and a fight against it would have the effect of calling attention to it.

IF ALL reports are true more home-grown melons will be consumed in Allen county this season than has been for many years. This has been an excellent season for melons, and those who took the pains to plant early in the spring say that the vines are full. Present indications are that melons may be bought very cheap a little later on, or when the home grown article is placed upon the market.

GENERAL BRADLEY T. JOHNSON gives anything but a cheerful view of the conditions in Cuba, from which he has just returned. He predicts the ultimate success of the revolutionists, but he is of the opinion that the war will be prolonged unless the United States should interfere. The Spanish force, although apparently averse to making war except in a desultory way on women and children and the aged, is nevertheless so formidable in numbers that the patriots do not hope to conquer except by the adoption of a Fabian policy. The Cubans are reported as deadly in earnest and determined to drive the Spanish from their shores if it is necessary to starve them to retreat by a practical destruction of the island. This will mean ruin to many millions of property belonging to Americans.

International Arbitration.

The correspondence between the government of the United States and that of Great Britain touching the question of international arbitration, made public last week, while failing to show an agreement, discloses, nevertheless, a very considerable progress toward the result and fully justifies the hope of ultimate success. As Lord Salisbury indicates, the subject is new to both nations, and the effect of its operations would be more or less conjectural. But the obvious desire of both governments to reach an agreement, and the fact that on some essential points there is already complete concurrence of views, leaves little doubt that the tempering influence of time will in the end compass the purpose.

On the main point of difference, as exhibited by the correspondence, Lord Salisbury is palpably at fault, and no doubt the public sentiment of his country will soon bring him to a realization of that fact. He would have the form without the substance, which, in the language of Secretary Olney, would tend to "bring all arbitrating into contempt," and consequently would retard rather than advance the enterprise. Arbitration, to be effective, must be entered into with the fixed and predetermined purpose to abide by the result. Any other sort of arbitration is "boy's play" and unworthy the name. That it is experimental makes no difference. An experiment that is uncompleted is necessarily unsatisfactory, and arbitration that is not binding on those who participate in it is an incomplete experiment.

The failure to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion within the time that the matter has been under consideration is disappointing, but it should not cause despair. The great progress of civilization will soon force all governments into the adoption of some such plan for the settlement of international disputes and the two great English speaking nations must lead in the march to that result. Lord Salisbury may be able to delay the consummation for a time, but not long. The intelligent people on both sides of the ocean have set their hearts on this splendid reform.

THERE could scarcely be greater contrast than is found in the democratic and republican utterances on the money question, that which is enlisting the interest of the whole country at this time. For the purpose of comparison we give the coinage planks of each platform in parallel columns:

Progress of the Horseless Wagon.

From a paper by Cleveland Moffett on this subject in McClure's Magazine the following facts are gathered: At this time street railway companies in various cities are preparing to use horseless stages to transfer passengers between the end of road where terminals are a considerable distance apart. The first line of successful horseless stages has been established in the west, in Colorado. Such a line is now in operation at Sulphur Springs in that state. At Portland, Me., however, there are motor carriages or stages for hire by visitors who wish to try this mode of taking a carriage ride.

Hartford, Conn., is using motor fire engines and they promise to become common in all the cities. The Duryea horseless wagon that took first prize in the Chicago contest can travel 20 miles an hour on good roads, as fast as old fashion railway trains could go. This wagon is operated by gasoline at a cost of about 1 cent for every three miles. All the horseless wagons can be driven at a speed so small as to be scarcely worth counting. The most difficulty to be overcome is the weight of the motor. Another problem is to steer as safely and easily.

Christ's English Lutheran Church Dedicated.

Grand Meeting Held Yesterday—Addresses Made by Visiting Divines.

The rain did not dampen the interest or enthusiasm of Christ's English Lutheran church people yesterday. Their beautiful chapel, corner Webster and Jefferson streets, having been completed, was solemnly set apart, and the membership fairly excelled themselves in giving for the liquidation of the indebtedness.

Palms and flowers in profusion bedecked pulpit and altar and choir loft, filling the house with fragrance, while anthems and glorias made the sanctuary vocal with praise. The Sunday school assembled in goodly numbers, and were addressed by Rev. S. B. Barnitz, D. D., western secretary of Home Missions, who cheered the young people even to enthusiasm in the work laid to their hands. The morning worship opened with the beautiful order of service of the Book of Worship, conducted by Rev. S. A. Ort, D. D., president of Wittenberg college Springfield, Ohio. The sermon was by Rev. H. L. Wiles, D. D., of Mansfield, Ohio, from Psalm xxxvi: 8, "They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house." The sermon was a strong one, setting forth the great advantages of the church to the community, and showing that those who contribute for church edifices make the best of investments. The sermon was followed by an appeal for funds on the part of Dr. Wiles, who showed himself an adept in such matters.

The responses were so liberal that in a little while more than the $1,500 asked for were subscribed.

In the afternoon the audience was considerably lessened by the continuous rain, but the interest on the part of those present never flagged. The opening service was conducted by Rev. Harry Lawrence, Van Wert, Ohio, and the sermon on "Attachment to God's House" by Rev. S. B. Barnitz, D. D., Des Moines, Iowa. Dr. Barnitz is a forcible speaker and eminently practical.

At night Robt. Aikin, of Uniondale, conducted the opening service of prayer and Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Ort, of Wittenberg, preached one of the strongest sermons ever delivered in Fort Wayne. The theme was "The Certain Triumph of the Religion of Christ." It was really a masterpiece. At the close of each service an effort was made for funds, and the day closed with a subscription of $1,300. Considering the ability of the congregation this was remarkable.

The new edifice as it stands is only that portion which will eventually become the chapel to the main body of the church, extending to the front and facing on Jefferson street. It is the hope of the congregation that a few years will see them financially able to go ahead with the proposed extension. The present building is of brick, trimmed with Bedford stone. The stained glass windows are of choice design and the ornamental work executed with excellent taste. The chapel has a seating capacity of about 300.

The pastor, Rev. A. A. Handley, can be proud of his enterprising and zealous flock.

SKETCHES BY J. QUAD

He Died Like a Gentleman.

One of the men belonging to our camp had been shot by a stranger, and when the jury had returned their verdict Judge Watkins arose and said:

"Stranger, the sentence of this court is that you be taken out and hung by the neck."

"Just so," replied the man as he bowed to right and left. "Gentlemen, I'm sorry if I have put you to any extra trouble over this matter."

"Oh, it 's no particular trubble," replied the judge. "In course it sort of breaks up a day when we hang a man, but nobody kicks. We all feel that we owe it as a duty to our feller man."

"Exactly—I see," said the stranger. "It is very kind of you to stop work in the busy season. May I inquire what sort of an arrangement you have for carrying out such affairs?"

"It's the old fashioned way of standin a man on a barl and kickin the barl away when all is ready. We've used it in about 20 cases and it has never failed to give satisfackshun. Did you want to try sumthin different, stranger?"

"Oh, no. No, I wouldn't want you to go to the trouble of erecting a regular gallows for my benefit. Lumber is pretty scarce this year. I suppose you have a man who knows all about adjusting the noose?"

"Sartinly, sir. Jim Wheeler allus tends to that part of the circus, and I've yit to hear the fust complaint. You needn't have the least oneasiness about the noose."

"What time today could you pull the performance off?" asked the stranger after a bit.

"Well, 3 o'clock is our reg'lar hour, but if you want it an hour earlier or later we'll try and accommodate you."

"Three o'clock suits me."

"Then we'll make it 3. That gives us time to hang you, dig the grave and clear up things before supper. Want to write any letters?"

"No, I guess not."

"Just as you feel about that. We hain't askin your name or pryin into your biznes. That hain't our way. Would you like a gravestun put up over yer mortal remains?"

"Would it be asking too much?"

"It wouldn't. We'll do it with the greatest cheerfulness. What name shall we put on the stun?"

"Nothing but Joe."

"All right, sir. It will be, 'Sacred to the memory of Joe, who departed this life on Aug. 18, 1872.' We kin add, 'Of such is the kingdom of heaven,' if you wish."

"No; that will do."

"Anything else you think of, stranger?"

"Nothing else."

He was removed to one of the shanties and placed under guard, and at 3 o'clock the men assembled and he was taken out and duly hanged. Just before the final act Judge Watkins solicitously inquired:

"Stranger, do you want a drink of whisky, a chaw of terbacker or anything else we have on hand?"

"Thanks, but I'm provided for," was the reply.

"You ain't blamin us?"

"Oh, no."

"Arrangements all to your satisfackshun?"

"Perfectly so."

"Then let 'er go, and don't worry about the gravestun."

A RUSSIAN HEALER.

JOHN CRONSTADT HAS THE POWER OF HEALING.

His Influence Felt Everywhere—Collects Vast Sums from the Rich and Distributes Them With a Lavish Hand Among the Poor.

ONE of the best known names in Russia to-day is that of Father John of Cronstadt; or, in Russian form, Father Ioann Sergieff Kronstadtsky. When the late Emperor Alexander III. lay on his death bed, we read that Father John had been sent for across the whole length of Russia, to administer spiritual consolation, and had been present when none others save the imperial family were admitted. Father John's departure for Moscow to attend the coronation of the young Emperor was chronicled in the Russian press in company with that of royal princes and great officials of the state. And now that a great calamity has saddened the coronation festivities, the cable tells us that Father John of Cronstadt is comforting and blessing the mourners as they seek to find their dead.

Father John is a living illustration of the manner in which a man can rise, in the best sense, from the very lowest to the very highest class of society in a country where most foreigners would believe such a thing to be impossible. His father was a poor semi-ecclesiastical survivor of the church in a small village of the Archangel government, situated even a little further north than Arctic Archangel itself. He was not even a clever boy, according to his own account, until he prayed with tears for enlightenment.

He received it, rose from the bottom to the head of his class, and, what is more important for himself and others, acquired that fervent belief in prayer wherein lies his strength.

The Rev. Father John was ordained to the priesthood 30 years ago last November, and appointed to the church in Cronstadt of which he is now the archpriest. From the day of his appointment he began to treat his poor parishioners of St. Petersburg's seaport town with the tender, winning affection born of his own experience of hardship and poverty. But his chief fame arose from his power in prayer, which, as thousands firmly believe, effects miracles in the way of healing soul and body.

FATHER JOHN.

The Rev. Father John himself lays no claim to any power. He does assert that a half hour in fervent prayer every night will suffice to keep a person spiritually healthy and happy, even when the prayer is forced, in seasons of cold-heartedness. Nevertheless, he has been credited with not only cures but the power of prophecy.

The Rev. Father John is in no wise remarkable in appearance, except that his blue eyes are piercing to a degree, and appear to have the power to look into one's very soul and read what is there. He is a simple, straightforward, profoundly devout man, who believes unquestionably in the power of prayer. His firm faith encourages sufferers, inspires the weak of heart and morals, stirs up the rich to give large sums of money by which the poor profit, and which they would not otherwise give at all, in all probability. The Rev. Father John himself derives no advantages from either money or aristocratic friends.

He gives without asking whatever sum he may happen to have in his pocket; or his mode of operation is so nearly that that it may fairly be described in those general terms. The indispensable service which Father John renders is that he rouses sluggish hearts, souls, consciences to action, more or less vigorous; that he puts into the sick the desire and courage to live, which, as any doctor will admit, is generally half the battle. In that sense, he probably does effect many cures, whole or partial.

On another occasion three young men made up their minds to have some fun out of the respected priest, and to deceive him, with the object of ruining his reputation for penetration. One of them went to the Rev. Father John and asked him to come and pray beside his dying friend. The Rev. Father John did not refuse, but he said beforehand: "You are trifling with God." On entering the room he found the second seized writhing on the bed in apparent agonies, while number three was wailing and lamenting. The Rev. Father John took a good look at the room (where there was no holy picture) and at them; knelt down, crossed himself and said: "Lord, deal with them according to their faith. Amen." Then he quickly left the room. But when the imaginary invalid attempted to rise from the bed he found himself really and seriously ill with a nervous attack. It was only after the jokers had done penance and been well lectured by the Rev. Father John that the sick man recovered.

GIRL'S HEROIC ACT.

Miss Perez of New York Who Rescued a Man from Certain Death.

An unknown bicyclist was thrown from his wheel in front of a New York trolley car the other afternoon. His head struck the track with such force as to render him unconscious. Several men stood by while Miss Perez heroically went to the rescue of the fallen man. She drew him clear of the track just as the car dashed past. The fall of the car badly bruised one of the brave young woman's arms. This is not Miss Perez' first act of heroism. When her home was in flames she rescued her sister and grandmother, both of whom were overcome by the smoke.

MISS PEREZ.

Girding the World.

When Shakespeare wrote about putting a girdle around the earth in forty minutes, the idea was as visionary as that of communicating with the stars in the firmament. Not long ago at the Electric Fair, a message was sent from one gallery to the other by way of Vancouver and Tokio, the message arriving in something less than fifty minutes. Of course, this does not run actually around the world, but it demonstrates the possibilities of the electrical current, and shows us that when the new Pacific cable is finished it will require a good deal less than fifty minutes to circumnavigate the globe with an electric message. The future of electricity has wonderful promise, much greater than we are able to realize, especially so in view of the fact that our most eminent electricians frankly avail that they only understand the a-b-c's of it.

Chinaman Weds a White Girl.

An unusual wedding took place at the New England Congregational church of Aurora, Ill. The groom is a Chinaman and the bride a Chicago girl of German parentage, who has been in Aurora since last fall. Ang Ton Wong and Miss Georgie Ehlers were united in matrimony at the close of the evening church service by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Sturtevant. Ang, who is better known in Aurora by his given name, Ah Wong, is a prosperous laundryman who has made his home in that city many years. In connection with his laundry he conducts a small store, selling Chinese specialties. He has espoused the Christian religion and would gladly become a citizen of the United States if he could find a court which would issue him naturalization papers.

EXCURSION DAY.

Sunday Notable for Its Many Outing Parties.

The Wabash Brings 700 People Here and the Grand Rapids Takes 500 to Rome City.

Yesterday was distinctively "excursion day" in and about this city. Those citizens who did not go to Robison park, Rome City or Cincinnati were entertaining at their homes friends from the towns along the line of the Wabash and the Findlay roads, or watched with sympathizing hearts the little groups of bedrabbled, water soaked strangers who all day long plodded aimlessly about the streets in search of amusement.

WABASH EXCURSION.

The Wabash company brought about 725 people into the city yesterday. The train, which consisted of nine coaches and a baggage car, started from Peru and picked up excursionists at almost every station between that city and Fort Wayne. Huntington furnished the biggest delegation, there being 456 tickets sold at that point, while the agent at Peru only reported 60. Wabash did fairly well also, sending up nearly 150 excursionists. The intention was to take the excursionists to Robison park, there to spend the day in the beautiful groves but owing to the disagreeable weather this feature of the excursion was abandoned and the excursionists scattered about the city, those having relatives or friends here hunting them up and spending the day with them. Those not so fortunate crowded into the hotels, the Y. M. C. A. reading rooms and other accessible places of shelter, while a few went out to the park and sat in the pavilion, listening to the music of the orchestrion. The excursion was a surprise to the management, the crowd being greater than anticipated, and proves that Fort Wayne as an attractive excursion point is equal to any of the cities or pleasure resorts in the state of Indiana. Col. R. G. Thompson, the Wabash district passenger agent, announces that the excursion will be repeated on Sunday, August 9, when efforts will be made to bring 2,000 people here.

THE ROME CITY EXCURSION.

The Fort Wayne outing party and a rain storm, which continued throughout the day, arrived at Rome City simultaneously yesterday morning. The only variations in the weather during the day consisted in the rapidity with which the moisture descended upon the scene. It rained from 10 o'clock in the morning until after the last train pulled out for home in the evening, increasing in volume as the day advanced and forming rivulets and pools of water throughout the parks and in the paths leading to the various buildings, boat landings and fishing places. But, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the greater portion of the excursionists managed to get a good deal of enjoyment out of the trip. Those piscatorially inclined who were provided with mackintoshes or umbrellas, fished from boats and bridges, and some of those who were not so provided did likewise. And the fishing was never better than it was yesterday, many fine strings of bass, bluegills and catfish finding their way into the baskets and buckets of the anglers. At 6 o'clock in the evening, when the excursionists began to grow restless, the welcome announcement was made that the train would return in two sections, the first leaving at 6:30 and the second at 8 o'clock. There were ten coaches in the train which took the party to Rome City, and six of them were filled with people and started for Fort Wayne at the early appointed hour, while the remaining four were held until the regular hour of departure. There were no accidents or incidents calculated to mar the pleasure of an excursion other than the inclement weather, and with a few exceptions, all seemed to enjoy the "outing." There were 465 persons in the party.

THE FINDLAY CROWD

Threatening weather kept many Buckeyes at home yesterday, who would have been with us had the sun been shining in the early morning. As it was, the regular Sunday train from Findlay brought in sixty-one passengers, and most of them came from Ottawa and points this side. These excursionists spent the day in sightseeing about the city, much in the same manner as did the Hoosiers from the Wabash valley.

LAKE ERIE AND WESTERN.

The Lake Erie and Western railway's excursion train for Cincinnati left this city at 5 o'clock yesterday morning with less than 100 passengers. It was better patronized from towns south of here, however, and went into Cincinnati with eighteen coaches and nearly 1,000 persons. Muncie contributed greatly to the crowd, furnishing fully one-third of the number. Returning, the train left Cincinnati at 7:30 and reached her home time after midnight, being delayed some hours by slippery rails and the heavy load.

THE ELECTRIC EMPLOYES' EXCURSION.

The electric light employes have about completed the program for the entertainment of those who go with them to Rome City on Saturday, July 25. The First Regiment A. O. U. W. band has been hired for the occasion and there will be innumerable races both on land and water, and other athletic contests. The executive committee of the excursion is composed of Messrs. A. E. Barnes, Thomas Duncan, C. C. Miller, A. L. Hadley, John J. Bauer, C. Strube, J. Chadwick, P. E. Bosworth and D. C. Davis.

LEG INJURED.

John P. Leitz, who is employed in the store room at the electric works, was engaged in handling a small motor Saturday afternoon, when the grab hooks broke and the machine fell. In its descent it broke one of the bones of Mr. Leitz's right leg and bruised and skinned the other limb badly. He was taken to his home on Jones street, in a cab, and a surgeon reduced the fracture and dressed the wound.

BRIEF MENTION.

Electric light employes were paid today.

Henry Knoche, of the Bass blacksmith shop, is sick and off duty.

Class X engine 267 was taken in the Pittsburg shop this morning for repairs.

Supt. G. L. Potter, of the Pennsylvania, went to the Toledo division on business today.

Steps are under way to wind up the receivership of the Norfolk and Western by October 1.

John Gribbins has returned to his duties in the electric works after a week's vacation, spent in fishing.

Blacksmith Eugene LaPoint, of the Erie shops, at Huntington, and his family, were the guests of Mrs. D. D. Williams over Sunday.

Hal Bitzberger, the Grand Rapids fireman, left last Saturday for a ten days' outing in northern Michigan.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton handled in June at the Toledo terminal 2,220 more cars than in June, 1895.

Theodore Bobler is back at the desk in the Pittsburg round house office again, after a few days with friends in Chicago.

The Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City earned in the second week of July $15,787 69, an increase over the corresponding week of 1895 of $12,860 84.

Mrs George Barter, of Huntington, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Holmes, over Sunday. Mr. Barter is a boilermaker in the employ of the Erie road.

Foreman G. A. Stink, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, is keeping bachelor's hall, his wife and daughter having gone to Harrisburg, Pa., to visit relatives.

Clerk C. L. Dasler, of the Pittsburg machine shop, is enjoying a week's respite and Ambrose Benedict is performing the clerical duties of the department.

James V. Costigan has resumed his clerical duties at the electric works after a vacation of ten days. He visited nearly all the surrounding towns and had a good time.

Z. Hamar, for many years a conductor on the Michigan division of the Big Four, later trainmaster of the Wabash now has a good position on one of the roads running into Denver, Colo.

Conductor Bassett West, of the Wabash, is the proudest man on the system, for he has been given charge of a newly built caboose, No. 311, and has fixed it up as neat as a modern palace.

William Hannan, who was the victim of a Fourth of July accident, in which he barely escaped the loss of both eyes, was able to resume work at the factory of Rhinesmith & Simonson this morning.

William Leach, of the brass moulding room, Pittsburg shops, is the happy owner of the bicycle formerly owned by George Ryan. On account of poor health Mr. Ryan had to abandon riding a wheel.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago has the roadway for a third track graded between Allegheny and Rochester, and is only waiting for the business depression to pass off before commencing the laying of the rails.

Willie Berdan, secretary and treasurer of the Cooke Locomotive works, and who has been with that company for thirty-one years, has resigned to become secretary of the National Association of Locomotive Builders.

A special train on the Panhandle carrying the Baptist young people to Milwaukee made the run from Pittsburg to Chicago, 508 miles, in twelve hours and fifty minutes, being one of the fastest runs on record between those points.

As a result of the postmaster general's order prohibiting the carrying of unstamped railroad mail in baggage cars, the Chicago Railroad Exchange has been closed. The exchange has acted as a distributing center for mail for fifteen years.

The Pennsylvania has issued a new book of instructions on the Westinghouse air brake, made necessary by certain changes in valves which would improve the air brake and signal system. The new books are smaller than those now carried by trainmen.

The Lake Erie and Western railroad company has made it obligatory on the part of conductors to go through their train on reaching terminal points for the purpose of securing for safe keeping any articles which may be forgotten by the passengers when leaving the coaches.

Frank Stone, the traveling man, has nearly completed a fine house on Liberty street, near the Compare homestead. He expects to move into the house about September 1. Ed. Davis, engineer at the Standard Wheel works, is also preparing to build in the same addition.

Wabash engine 71, which was bringing No 5 down from Toledo this morning, gave out at Defiance. The engine which was taking freight train 98 east was detached at Napoleon and sent back to Defiance to complete the run for the disabled engine. No. 5 came in just one hour late.

The weather conditions of the past three days have not been conducive of health and as a consequence the sick list at the Pittsburg shops is of unusual length. Included among the unfortunates are L. Linker, Casper Harlong and F. E. Albers. Henry Bannweyer, who was on the absentee list last week, reported this morning.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago is obliged to run its fastest trains through New Brighton for nearly a mile and a half at a speed limit of ten miles an hour. The company has asked the privilege of fencing the road on both sides, that the speed of trains may be increased. The double tracks are in one of the streets of New Brighton the entire distance.

Charles B. Diebler, master mechanic of the Wabash railway, went to Wabash Saturday evening, where he was the guest of honor at the banquet tendered him by the engineers of the Michigan division of the Big Four railway, of which road Mr Doebler was lately master mechanic. A very elaborate menu was prepared and covers were laid for 150 guests. Mr Doebler is a very popular man with his former enginemen, and the banquet was given as a token of their esteem for him.

Capt S K. Miller, of Oil City Pa., is in the city for medical treatment by Dr J W Younge, for dropsy, resulting from Bright's disease. Captain Miller served as captain during the war in the tenth Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, and his company was the advance skirmish line at Gettysburg July 2, 1863, when the brigade took little Round Top from General Longstreet's Texans, under command of General Hood.

THE NEW ABLEGATE.

FALCONIO, WHO MAY SUCCEED SATOLLI, IS AN AMERICAN.

Although He Is an Archbishop in Italy, He Studied and Worked in the United States For Many Years and Became a Citizen.

Archbishop Diomedes Falconio, who will succeed Cardinal Satolli, it is rumored, as the papal delegate at Washington, is an American citizen. Although he is an Italian by birth and has been for many years in charge of an archdiocese in Italy, more than one-third of his life has been passed in America, and it was here that he obtained the greater part of his education.

Archbishop Falconio is 55 years old and a member of the Reformed Order of Franciscans, to which both the pope and Cardinal Satolli belong. His clerical career has been brilliant and his rise a most rapid one. As the papal delegate he would be at the head of Roman Catholic affairs in this country, having authority even over Cardinal Gibbons and serving as the spokesman for the pope when that dignitary had anything to communicate to the church here. He would have power to set at all disputes between archbishops and other church officials and would sweep the elaborate quarters in Washington where Cardinal Satolli now resides. Upon the continuation of the delegate Satolli will return to Rome, where he will take the red hat and assume the other emblems of his office, which he has not yet done.

Few prelates have taken such rapid strides toward the top as has Archbishop Falconio. He was born in a little town in the province of Amazzo, Italy, which was in the Franciscan province of St. Bernardine. At an early age he joined the order of St. Francis, and after three or four years of study in the local monastery he went to Rome, where he studied for five years more. While at Rome there was a call from the minister general of the order for mission workers. Among those who responded was Father Diomede, as he was known then, and Father Anacletus, who has reached the head of the order here, and who has been a lifelong friend of the archbishop. The two young men came to this country over 20 years ago, neither of them being able to speak a word of English. They went at once to the Franciscan college of St. Bonaventure in Allegheny, Cattaraugus county, N. Y., where they continued their studies and readily mastered the English language. Father Diomede was ordained a priest and began teaching theology there. At the end of three years he was made president of the institution.

Both he and Father Anacletus became on his side over America, its institutions and government, and both took out naturalization papers at Little Falls, N. Y., becoming citizens and voting at state and national elections.

They were both sent as missionary priests to Winsted, Conn. After two years of work there Father Diomede was sent to Harbor Grace, N. F., on a similar errand. For ten years he labored in that bleak country with a good deal of success and then came back to the United States, where for a time he assisted Father Anacletus in alum missionary work in New York city. It was at this time that he applied for permission to return to Italy that he might take charge of his parents, whom he had not seen for 25 years. The request was granted, and he sailed, fully expecting to return in a few months at the latest.

While in Italy he was appointed provincial of the province of the order in St. Bernardine, his native province, and his work was marked with such success that he attracted the favorable notice of the minister general. He had simply applied some of the enterprising American methods to his new duties. He was appointed for a second term, but was again advanced and was unanimously elected procurator general of a branch of the order known as the reformed Franciscans.

He had served but three years in his new office when he was appointed by the pope as bishop of Lucedogna, and in October last he was still further honored by being

HOT WEATHER DYSPEPSIA.

Thousands Suffer From It at This Season of the Year.

Hot weather dyspepsia may be recognized by the following symptoms: Depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, loss of flesh and appetite, no desire for food, bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, wind in stomach and bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness, weariness, restlessness, headache, palpitation, heartburn. It is a mistake to treat such troubles with "tonics," "blood purifiers," "cathartics," "pills," because the whole trouble is in the stomach. It is indigestion or dyspepsia and nothing else.

All these symptoms rapidly disappear when the stomach is relieved, strengthened, and cleansed by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They should be taken after meals and a few carried in the pocket to be used when ever any pain or distress is felt in the stomach. They are prepared only for stomach troubles.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by such physicians as Dr. Richardson, Dr. Jenkinson, and Dr. Mayer, because they contain the natural digestive acids and fruit essences with which when taken into the stomach cause the prompt digestion of the food before it has time to ferment and sour, which is the cause of trouble.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are pleasant to take and unequaled for invalids, children and every person afflicted with imperfect digestion. It is safe to say they will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Nearly all the druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents. A book on stomach troubles and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Mothers, Be sure and use "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for your children while cutting teeth. It is the best remedy of all. MayScedAw

NEWS NOTES.

Phoenix lodge will meet tonight.

Miss Carrie Wilson is at Lake Wawasee.

Fort Wayne lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., will meet tonight.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Irwin, of Monroe street—a son.

The rain played havoc with many programs laid out for yesterday.

J. H. Daily, of West DeWald street, has taken a position at Montpelier.

Mrs. W. F. Geller is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Thomas Neal, of Hamilton, Mo.

Miss Bessie Burgess left Saturday for Buffalo, N. Y., to visit relatives for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Bassett and daughter, of Madison street, will go to Van Wert tomorrow on a visit.

The marriage of Miss Julia Casanave of this city, to Mr. Anderson, of Altoona, Pa., will occur in Philadelphia tomorrow.

Miss Elizabeth Waldman, of Van Wert, Ohio, was the guest of her cousin, Miss Basset, of Madison street, over Sunday.

Kittie and Mae Foster of Huntington, spent Sunday in this city, the guests of the Misses Manuel of Brackenridge street.

Professor Ort, of the Wittenberg college at Springfield, Ohio, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Meyer, of South Harrison street.

A fishing party consisting of Harry Bash, Bert Fonner, J. E. Gaskine, Arthur Dougall and Frank Edmunds went to West Lake yesterday.

Peaches are arriving in the city every day in large quantities and are selling at remarkably low figures considering the early season.

E. H. Doud had arranged an elaborate program to be carried out at Lake Everett yesterday, but the rain caused a postponement of events.

Mrs. Fred Hull, of St. Louis, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Mendenhall, of Clinton street, has gone to Constantine, Mich.

Deputy State Fish Commissioner Koepke, is visiting the lakes and rivers in the northern part of the state to hunt down violaters of the fish law.

Mrs. Charles McCulloch and Master Fred and Miss Edith Zollars and Master Horace expect to leave for Bear lake on Wednesday to remain several weeks.

Miss Edna Rouss has returned from Altoona, Pa., where she has for four weeks been a guest in the family of Mr. F. D. Casanave, formerly of this city.

Arnold and Walter Curtice, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Curtice, gave a party to their young friends of the neighborhood today, at their home, 15 West Creighton avenue.

Miss Lillie Davis, of 401 South Clinton street, will leave tomorrow for Columbus, Ohio, where she will be the guest of Miss Blanche Cullison, formerly of this city, a few days.

Sid G. Throckmorton, formerly in the cigar business in this city, but lately of Columbus, Ohio, has returned and will engage in his old trade at the cigar factory of Cohen & Law, on Harrison street.

Miss Helen Reimensnyder, of Lancaster, Pa., who taught in the high school in this city two years ago, has written an interesting novel entitled "Unchaperoned," which is published by A. F. Feano, of New York.

Detective John T. Norris, who has gained much notoriety, has his name in the papers again. At Columbus, Ohio, he is showing some detective camera pictures which he took of legislators in questionable resorts, which he is using to prevent the repeal of the Winn liquor law. Norris is well known in this city.

It was five weeks ago yesterday that W. F. Geller, the well known Broadway confectioner and baker, met with the accident in which he broke a leg. Although getting along very nicely, he is still unable to leave his bed at all. It will be two weeks yet before he will be able to sit up. His physician says he will not be lame when he gets well.

The Pericleans of this city, consisting of Fort Wayne and Summit temples, and their friends, will give a social picnic at Robison park next Wednesday afternoon and evening. The ladies will go out at 2 o'clock p. m. from the corner of Main and Calhoun street, well provided with lunch, and the gentlemen will go at 7 p. m. A good time is assured.

Today application was made to the faculty of the Fort Wayne College of Medicine by T. J. Schweise, of Findlay, Ohio, for a certificate showing that he was entitled to practice medicine. He claimed to have received a diploma of Dr. Sunrise, the Indian doctor, in this city, a few years ago, but had lost it. Dr. Stemen informed the man that such a diploma was worthless, and no such a certificate as that asked for could be issued.

ROBISON PARK.

Extra Attractions for the Coming Week.

Manager Robison will present an entire new list of attractions for the patrons of Robison park this week. Mack's dog and monkey circus, consisting of several trained dogs and monkeys, will amuse the people, and the Norwood Bros., the monarchs of the gymnastic world, will be seen in their wonderful triple horizontal bar performance. Two performances will be given daily during the week, at 3:30 and 8:30 p. m. The Standards and Eagles will play a game of base ball at 2:30. The Wabash and Findlay roads will both run special trains to the park today, and the indications are that the popular park will have a large crowd.

GIRL CAUSES TWO DEATHS.

Archibald Askew Shoots Arthur Callahan and Then Kills Himself.

Quincy, Ill., July 20.—Archibald Askew shot Arthur Callahan three times and then killed himself at Kingston, south of this city, Saturday night. Askew's daughter was stopping at Callahan's house and there was a quarrel over the way she had been treated. Askew called at Callahan's house and abused the girl. When Callahan remonstrated Askew drew a revolver and shot three times, one of the bullets going through Callahan's head. Then he sat down on the porch and asked Callahan's forgiveness. When this was denied Askew put the pistol to his head and blew out his own brains.

Irving's Son Weds.

London, July 20.—Many members of the dramatic profession were at St. Pancras church today to witness the wedding of Mr. Henry B. Irving, eldest son of Sir Henry Irving, and Miss Dorothea Baird. Lady Irving, Sir Henry Irving and Ellen Terry were among those present. Mr. George DuMaurier, the author and artist, gave the bride a diamond pendant and an original drawing.

Hard Times Continue.

But we Find a Way to keep Things Moving.

In June of this year our sales exceeded the same month of 1895 by 45 per cent., and the same month of 1894 by 72 1-2 per cent.

We doubt if there are a dozen firms in the West which can show such an extraordinary increase in sales under such a discouraging condition of retail trade.

But the recent enlargement of our already very extensive salesrooms—our increase in stock, especially in fine and very fine goods and our cut in prices to about one half the profits of former times, has given us a patronage altogether beyond anything we have ever enjoyed.

"Good Times Are Coming,"

And when they arrive we propose to be occupying a front seat in the business "Band Wagon."
